

French Receive American Plan For Paying Debt

Meeting Adjourned This Afternoon to Give French Time to Digest American Proposals — Callaux Formally Appraised That His Proposal Was Unsatisfactory.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 25.—In polite, but unequivocal language Joseph Callaux, the French finance minister, was formally apprised today that his initial proposals for paying the $4,000,000,000 French war debt are not satisfactory to the American government, and do not, in American opinion, afford a basis upon which a funding agreement can be worked out.

This notice upon the French was speedily followed up by the presentation of a counter plan, worked out by the American debt commission, containing terms that the Americans believe France can meet, and which at the same time will be acceptable to Congress.

In order to give the French time to digest the American proposals, the debt conference adjourned this afternoon until tomorrow morning, when it is expected the French will give their answer.

Previous to going into session with the American commission, M. Callaux and his associates held a long conference at the French embassy. The French minister refused to comment but again expressed confidence that a definite settlement would be forthcoming speedily.

Modify Callaux's Plan.
Separate meetings of the two commissions were also held at the treasury prior to the joint conference. It was reported that the French were making certain modifications in the plan which M. Callaux put forward yesterday, but how extensive these modifications were was not divulged.

Reject First Proposal.
The initial proposal formulated by M. Callaux and put forward by him in the first session of the two debt commissions, has been found "entirely unacceptable" to the Americans. It strayed so far from the British and other agreements already consummated, and differed so radically from what the Americans believe constitutes a fair adjustment, that American opinion was unanimous in its rejection.

Communication of this verdict to M. Callaux today was expected to be followed by a statement from Mr. Mellon and his associates of what they believe to be an equal settlement of the controversy. Then, with the problem bracketed between two extremes, the two commissions can get down to a basis of real trading.

Disappointing as M. Callaux's proposition was to the American commissioners there was still optimism displayed here today that ultimately an agreement will be reached.

Callaux's Proposition.
M. Callaux's original proposition—described as "feeling"—was an involved one, and one that was extremely generous to France. While details have not been officially divulged, it was learned that it amounted, substantially, to this:

Consolidation of the entire French debt, war, post-war and supplies, into a single sum, with the accrued interest scaled down from five per cent to figure approximating two per cent.

A graduated scale of payments, beginning modestly at $20,000,000 annually for a considerable period, and then gradually increasing to an approximate $70,000,000 maximum during the latter years of the agreement—the whole to bear an interest rate of the same two per cent or slightly less.

Over a period of 62 years, the average life of the funding agreements, concessions of this nature would amount to billions of dollars, and amount virtually to cancellation of a large part of the existing debt.

No Offer at All.
The American commissioners were quick to point out that M. Callaux's offer really constituted no offer at all, as France is now paying $1,000,000,000 a year to the American government as interest on the $400,000,000 debt contracted immediately after the war in the purchase of supplies, which, incidentally, were worth considerably more than a billion dollars. Thus, if the offer accepted, it would mean that France would pay for a considerable period of years, precisely the same on her whole debt as she is now paying on a comparatively small part of the debt.

In phase of it, however, was not unacceptable to the American commissioners as was the interest reduction asked by M. Callaux.

American Taxpayers Suffer.
Each of the seven funding agreements already reached with debtor nations carry interest at a rate approximately slightly more than 3 1/2 per cent.

The American government is paying 4 per cent on this same money in the form of interest on the $400,000,000 of Treasury bonds, thus taking out of one per cent, thus taking out of every year by American taxpayers. Considering that the total war debt is around $12,000,000,000, it can be seen that even this small concession constitutes a severe sacrifice to the American taxpayer.

The American commissioners do not believe in making concessions that the French will make. Callaux's offer is France's "best offer," as he is, as one member of the commission has said, "a man of honor."

They might as well go home."

Murdered in Gangsters' Feud

Body of Well Dressed Young Man Riddled With Bullets Is Found in Abandoned Packard Sedan—Three Men Leap From Car and Escape in The Darkness.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 25.—Another murder mystery, believed to be an outgrowth of an East Side gangster feud, was discovered early today with the finding of the body of a well dressed man, riddled with bullets, slumped down in the toungeau of an abandoned Packard sedan in front of the Consolidated Gas Company's coal yards on First avenue, between Ninety-eighth street and Ninety-ninth street.

A moment before, three men had been seen to leap from the automobile and brandish revolvers in the darkness, in the direction of the East River. Police scoured neighboring coal yards for several hours but in vain.

There was nothing about the murdered victim that he could be identified. The labels had been ripped from his clothing, which was of fashionable cut and rich texture, and all papers had been removed from his pockets. His money was intact, however, and when counted a roll of bills in his pocket was found to contain $1,420. The man appeared to be about 26 years old, five feet eight inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds. He wore a black pencil striped suit, white shirt, with silk socks, expensive shoes and a soft hat. Detectives took his fingerprints in an effort to identify him.

Detectives found that the license plates on the abandoned machine had originally been issued for a Ford car. It is believed the car was stolen.

In the rear seat beside the slain man's body, were two revolvers and a cartridge belt. One of the guns was fully loaded, the other had one chamber discharged. The belt had six empty loops.

Clutched in the dead man's hand was a key at one end, and in a vest pocket they found a golden fob containing a scroll with the ten commandments in Hebrew characters.

Anderson Starts Suit for Libel

Against Christian Century, Religious Publication of Chicago For Saying He Served Time For Misuse of Funds of the Anti-Saloon League.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 25.—William H. Anderson, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, announced today that he had instructed his attorney, Clarence Alexander, to bring suit for $50,000 for alleged libel against the Christian Century, a religious publication of Chicago.

Anderson said that if the paper is unable to pay the full amount of the judgment, he would take part of it out in advertising for his American Prohibition—Protestant Patriotic Protective Alliance.

According to Anderson's statement, the Chicago paper libeled him by "speaking falsely" in saying that he "served time for misuse of the funds of the Anti-Saloon League."

"The real fact showing my conviction on a fictitious offense to remove me as a menace to the presidential hopes of the wet, anti-prohibition forces," the statement said, "are proving an asset of growing value in the starting of the new American Protestant Alliance. But the charge, without a particle of fact or a word of testimony to sustain it, that I actually misused the funds of the leading dry church agencies was apparently deliberately intended to injure the new movement I have launched and strike at my future usefulness."

"I cannot keep this professed dry and religious, supposedly Protestant, paper from helping by silence, the anti-Protestant conspiracy in an effort to destroy prohibition, but I can make it and other publications tell the truth when they break silence."

Anderson recently asked subscriptions to pay his debts of $45,000 so he might carry out the work of his Alliance.

Pentitentiary For Disorderly Conduct.
Sue Wayne was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Pentitentiary at Albany Thursday evening by Judge Walter Webster at Flatbush, town of Ulster. She was charged with disorderly conduct at East Kingston in having broken windows and creating a disturbance. Deputy Sheriff Edvard Gaylor took her to Albany this morning.

Daily Day For Sunday School.
The Daily Day and graduating exercises of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church will be held on Sunday at noon. An interesting program has been arranged. Parents are especially asked to attend.

Interlocutory Invoice.
In an action for an absolute divorce brought by Ida Lewis against Edgar Lewis, an interlocutory decree has been granted by Judge C. D. B. Hasbrouck in the Supreme court to plaintiff. The parties were married at Saugerties in March, 1912, and the issue of the marriage are four children aged respectively 12, 10, 8 and 5 years. Defendant is ordered to pay $81.84 costs, and $50 counsel fee. Also the defendant must pay $15 a week for plaintiff and children as alimony. The children are in care of the plaintiff, mother. Walter J. Miller is attorney for the plaintiff.

Thirty Days For Bad Check.
William Clark, arrested in Shamong for issuing a check on a bank in which he had no funds, was sent to the Ulster county jail by Judge Theodore A. Von of Poughkeepsie Thursday for 30 days.

"Y" Campaign Workers Named

Intensive Drive in "Square Deal for Kingston Boys" Campaign to be Launched Monday Night—Charles Ramsey Starts $25,000 Campaign With $1,000 Subscription.

Preparations for the "Square Deal for Kingston Boys" campaign which is to be launched at a dinner to the workers in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium next Monday evening are progressing favorably, according to General Secretary John C. Porter, who has recently accepted the executive leadership of the Kingston "Y," after ten years of successful administration of the Young Men's Christian Association of Berwick, Pa.

There are three phases to the work of preparing for such a campaign, viz, publicity, organization, and securing large initial gifts. Of these, publicity has been withheld by the "Y" in order not to conflict with the Salvation Army campaign just closing. It will be pushed by mail, through the press and in the pulpits from now on.

As to initial gifts, the committee headed by Charles Ramsey has this work well in hand and is pushing it energetically. Mr. Ramsey himself gave the campaign an inspiring start by subscribing $1,000 toward the $25,000 objective. Other generous gifts have already been secured and will be announced at the opening dinner workers' conference on Monday evening.

As to organization, Mr. Ramsey has accepted the general chairmanship, and has secured a division leaders A. J. Burns, W. H. Niles, C. S. Rowland, George E. Lowe and John R. Millard.

These division leaders have been listed as team captains, C. A. Balz, R. F. Chidsey, J. I. Gifford, S. J. Mesinger, I. S. Williams, W. A. Carl, E. M. Hicks, R. L. Marchant, C. E. Wenderly, P. H. Carey, H. D. Ellinger, the Rev. W. J. Nelson, Wesley Lawterbury, E. J. Hillis, Delmar Kelly, H. R. St. John, Roy L. Smith, L. T. Whitney, H. Battenfeld, B. M. Char-chain, A. J. Harder, John Haulenbeck.

Up to Thursday these team captains had enlisted as their associates E. O. Allen, A. R. Atkins, Herbert Bell, M. R. Bartlett, Mayor Morris Block, Henry Blodgett, Emil Boresneck, Lewis Brown, Jason Carle, Floyd Cowley, Gordon A. Craig, Robert A. Corrigan, Dr. W. J. Cranston, J. H. Craig, H. D. Darrow, Lester Decker, Luther Decker, Henry Dittus, J. E. Doolittle, E. J. DuBois, L. E. DuMont, Harry Elmendorf, William S. Eltinge, Lester Finley, the Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, Henry Goldsworthy, Fred Green, the Rev. R. A. Greenwell, Chester Hall, David Harris, E. W. Hathaway, William Davis Hawk, E. M. Huben, W. S. Jackson, Harry Johnston, Percy Jones, Felix Katz, George Kotrady, Arthur Lacey, Edwin Lacey, Ernest LeFever, V. G. Lockwood, S. H. Low, George B. Matthews, J. W. Matthews, Hirschell Mayes, Dwight McEntee, Fred Meeker, H. A. Miner, J. R. Monroe, C. H. Neer, William Newkirk, A. D. Pardee, S. H. Perse, H. L. Pickens, J. C. Port, Herman Roosa, Thomas Rowland, Arthur Schmidt, W. A. Schornstheimer, George J. Schryver, Charles Shultis, Clayton J. Smith, Lewis Smith, Warren Smith, M. T. Southard, W. Slawson, A. P. Swanson, F. W. Thompson, M. P. Towne, R. C. Van Buren, Fred L. Van Deusen, Ray Van Valkenburgh, Watson Wheeler, Arthur H. Wicks, J. Allan Wood, A. T. Young. Others are being enlisted.

In this campaign the men of Kingston will have the help of E. T. Baer, secretary of the financial service bureau of the National Council of Young Men's Christian Associations of New York city, who is also helping the men of Newburgh to raise $125,000 with which to completely modernize their "Y" building.

Kingston does not seem to be quite ready for the project of completely modernizing the local "Y" plant, but the present campaign is intended to take care of complete renovation of the plant, clear the "Y" of all debts and carry a modern program of "Y" service to the end of the current fiscal year, April 30, 1926. The project of providing a completely modern "Y" plant for Kingston boys, such as Newburgh men are now preparing to provide for their boys, will have to wait probably another year.

COAST GUARD CRAFT LURED INTO TREACHEROUS WATERS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 25.—With her engines dead the coastguard picket boat S. C. G. 278 and her crew of nine men wallowed helplessly in a storm ridden sea all night while cutters and other patrol boats searched the dark waters.

Only through the skillful seamanship and heroic efforts of Captain A. A. Troy and the crew of the C. G. 192 were the marooned men brought safely into this port.

The crippled craft, according to members of her crew, had been lured into the treacherous waters surrounding that territory by a speeder, rum runner, whose skipper seemed to know every turn of tide and every twist of the passages through the dangerous rocks and shoals. Heavy seas were running, and the giant waves succeeded in deadening the government boat's engines. With her feeble radio she sent out an S. O. S. call which was heard and relayed to the coast by another picket boat.

President to Attend Series.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 25.—President Coolidge will attend the opening of the world's series in Washington on October 9. It was announced at the White House today. The Pirates come here on the ninth of October to play three games, starting on the 9th. Two previous games will be played in Pittsburgh.

Seven Killed in Riot.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 25.—Seven persons were killed and 125 injured in a Hindu-Muslim riot at Allahgarh, according to dispatches to the Evening News today. Four were killed in the rioting before police arrived and the officers shot were responsible for three more deaths.

Parents and Son Killed.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Oilton, Pa., Sept. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Kluge Slarks and their ten year old son, were instantly killed here today when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train. The bodies of the woman and boy were badly mangled.

Last Excursion Sunday.
The steamer Homer Ramsdell of the Central Hudson Lines will make its last Sunday excursion to New York and return on Sunday, September 27. The boat will leave Kingston at 6:45 a. m., return from New York at 12:30 p. m., and arrive at Kingston at 4:30 p. m. West 123rd Street at 5:15 p. m.

Democrats Name Coffey for Bench

Trojan Who Was Appointed Successor to Supreme Court Justice Howard Becomes Nominee in Third Judicial District.

Democrats of the Third Judicial District at Albany on Thursday unanimously nominated James V. Coffey of Troy, who is now holding the office of justice of the supreme court by appointment, for the full term of fourteen years, as successor to Justice Wesley O. Howard of Troy, who resigned from the supreme court bench about six months ago.

Judge Coffey was appointed by Governor Smith to fill the vacancy and has held one trial term of the supreme court in Ulster county, besides holding trial and special terms in other counties to which Judge Howard previously had been assigned.

The Democratic convention, which took place in the Albany county court house, was unanimous in its vote and its praise of Justice Coffey. Several of the speakers emphasized the argument that there is no Democratic justice on the supreme court bench in the Third Judicial District and that Justice Coffey should be elected in the name of a non-partisan judiciary.

Judge John G. Van Etten of this city, chairman of the Third District judicial committee, called the convention to order at 4 o'clock. Nelle F. Towner of Albany was elected chairman of the convention and Charles M. Friend of Albany was made secretary.

John T. Norton of Troy placed Judge Coffey in nomination. He said in part:

"While the law is the bulwark of the personal and property rights of the citizen, the protection that it gives depends on its administration by an impartial and intelligent judge."

"The citizen should be more so. Let us our courts are filled with judges of high character, ability and experience that justice may be done."

"Justice Coffey has given eminent satisfaction to the public and to the bar in every county in which he has conducted court. No one can point a finger at him, on or off the bench. His character is unimpeachable, his conduct in public and private life always that of an honorable gentleman of the highest culture. He has done much in the practice of the law and knows its purpose as well as the law itself. His mind is wonderfully well equipped in legal learning and experience and possesses those attributes of personality and judicial temperament that dignity and grace the bench."

"No one can go to him to have the law disregarded out of favor, but all litigants will be given even and exact justice."

Seconding speeches were made by the Hon. William J. Roche of Troy, former Supreme Court Justice D-Cady Herick of Albany, former Supreme Court Justice James A. Betts of this city, Ely S. Klopavich of Troy, former Judge Watson Lamont of Schoharie, John C. Dardess of Columbia county and Edward F. Ryan of Sullivan county.

Immediately upon the nomination of Justice Coffey, Convention Chairman Towner appointed a committee to arrange the formal notification ceremonies which will mark the start of the campaign in the judicial district in behalf of Justice Coffey. The committee includes Mr. Norton, Mayor Daniel J. Cosgro of Cohoes, Judge Lamont of Schoharie county, Judge Van Etten of Ulster, Mr. Dardess of Columbia, Judge George H. Smith of Sullivan and Benjamin I. Talmadge of Greene.

The following also were appointed to the committee to fill vacancies, under the election law: J. Odgen Ross of Troy, Robert E. Whalen of Albany and Harry E. Schrick of Kingston.

Ulster county's delegates at the convention were Judge John G. Van Etten, Henry E. McKenzie of Port Jervis, City Judge Harry E. Schrick, Clarence Hoornbeek of Ellenville and Judge James Jenkins.

It is expected that Justice Coffey will be opposed by County Judge Pierce H. Russell of Rensselaer county, who will be nominated by the Republican judicial convention Monday.

PORT JERVIS UNDECIDED ABOUT PAYING OFFICIALS

At a meeting of the common council of Port Jervis on Wednesday evening a resolution offered by Alderman Dwyer to make the salary of the mayor of Port Jervis $1,500 and the compensation of the aldermen-at-large and each alderman $5 for each meeting, not to exceed two meetings a month, to become effective January 1, was deferred until the next meeting of the common council to be held on October 5.

Several years ago in Kingston during the Canisid administration the city charter was amended to include a provision for paying each alderman $5 a month for two meetings a month. The salary of the alderman-at-large was fixed at $200, and a provision fixing the salary of the mayor was eliminated.

Last Excursion Sunday.
The steamer Homer Ramsdell of the Central Hudson Lines will make its last Sunday excursion to New York and return on Sunday, September 27. The boat will leave Kingston at 6:45 a. m., return from New York at 12:30 p. m., and arrive at Kingston at 4:30 p. m. West 123rd Street at 5:15 p. m.

"Dry" Budget of Thirty Millions

Will be Asked of Congress for Year Ending June 30, 1927—Additional Appropriation For Coast Patrol—Will Try To Keep Expenses Down.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 25.—Congress will be asked to appropriate about $30,000,000 to enforce prohibition and narcotic laws for the year ending June 30, 1927.

This was made known at the treasury today in connection with the completion of hearings on the prohibition budget. Eleven million dollars was fixed specifically for administration of the Volstead act, a similar amount to be expended in 1925 and 1926.

Approximately $11,000,000 more will be sought for law enforcement activities of the coast guard, while several million dollars will be added to the department of justice budget for operations incident to try enforcement.

There is a possibility that an additional appropriation to make permanent the Atlantic coast patrol will be authorized by Budget Director H. M. Lord.

Officials frankly admitted that it would require ten times the prohibition appropriation to actually dry up the United States. In view of the president's economy program and the plans laid for a $350,000,000 tax cut in the next Congress, the "dry" budget will be kept within the 1926 figure.

An iron blockade of the coasts and international borders will reduce the work of the interior dry forces and will permit some reduction of the personnel, according to officials. An effort will be made to keep prohibition expenses below the estimated appropriations that the difference may be turned in as savings and converted into dry tax reduction.

The new dry unit has been in action nearly a month. Officials said that already an excellent psychological reaction has been felt.

"The public recognizes that the government is in earnest, and regardless of sentiments towards the Volstead law the people are beginning to hold the law more seriously" one official said.

Each witness refuted the former testimony of Colonel C. G. Hall, army observer aboard the Shenandoah that "if the dirigible had the use of her full engine power, she would have been able to avoid the vortex of storm."

Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, surviving senior officer of the Shenandoah, ordered Colonel Hall to admit his statement was "an assumption" and not a "statement of fact."

Modifies Testimony.
Colonel Hall further modified his testimony by declaring:

"I believe there have been no more reliable engines developed than those aboard the Shenandoah."

"Do you know if the engine failure you spoke of aboard the Shenandoah if your former testimony was a major or minor failure?" Rosenthal asked.

"I do not," Hall replied. "Do you know when the engines stopped?"

"I do not."

Admiral H. P. Jones, president of the inquiry court, then questioned Colonel Hall as to the sound of gas escaping from valves.

Colonel Hall said it could be heard above the roar of the wind if one was sufficiently near the valves.

Chief Machinist H. H. Halliburton, the next witness, asserted "the reported failures of engines were of a minor nature and not a contributing cause to the disaster."

Tribute to Sheppard.
He paid tribute to the dead Lieutenant Sheppard as "the most able engineer officer I have ever seen, whose mechanical ability has no peer and whose courage, honesty and integrity was an inspiration to every member of the crew."

Other survivors of the Shenandoah's crew were then called to verify their former testimony.

Chief Rigger Louis E. Alley testified that at the time the ship broke in two, he saw power cars No. 4 and 5 break loose and "carried with them a section of the ship from frame 110 to frame 130."

Alley said he did not hear any escaping gas from the cells during the rapid rise and fall of the ship in the Ohio storm.

"At 3,400 feet altitude the bars were 52 per cent full," Alley testified. "The ship dropped to 3,300 feet and rose rapidly to 6,200 feet where the bars were under pressure but I did not hear any gas escaping."

Chief Rigger Arthur E. Carlson testified that he was certain that six of the eight valves had their covers off at the time the ship rose but he did not know about the other two valves in No. 12 and 13 bars.

Carlson said he did not see any signs of excessive internal pressure in the gas cells.

Rosendahl Asks Questions.
Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl took an active part in questioning the members of his crew on the witness stand. During his examination of Carlson, the court interrupted Rosendahl with:

"Do not frame the questions so as to suggest the answer."

Tracy Corcoran Arrested.
Thursday afternoon Sergeant Simpson arrested Tracy Corcoran on a warrant issued in Ellenville charging him with assaulting a woman. Corcoran was turned over to Sergeant Cunningham of the State Troopers and taken to Ellenville for a hearing.

Lansdowne Had Recommended New Engines

For Shenandoah Fifteen Months Before Airship Crashed—Hall Declares Airship Might Have Been Saved If Engines Didn't Fail.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Lakehurst, N. J., Sept. 25.—A recommendation to the navy department for substitute engines for the dirigible Shenandoah was made, presumably by Commander Zachary Lansdowne, fully 15 months before the airship crashed to earth in Ohio on September 3, killing Commander Lansdowne and 13 members of the crew. It was learned today.

Captain G. W. Steele, commander of the Lakehurst Naval Air Station, confirmed the report of this recommendation, to International News Service. Captain Steele said the plans for new engines had not reached the experimental stage.

Recommended Change of Engines.
This recommendation for a change of engine power, which did not materialize before the Shenandoah's loss, was considered significant by aviation experts following the testimony of Colonel C. G. Hall, army aviation observer aboard the airship, given before the naval court of inquiry here that the loss of the Shenandoah was indirectly due to the failure of two of its engines.

The recommendation recorded in communications between Lansdowne and the bureau of aeronautics in Washington, it was said, suggested that three 800 horse power Packard engines be substituted for the five 300 horsepower engines installed in the Shenandoah at the time of her destruction during a Western storm.

Full Engine Power Lacking.
Colonel Hall testified that he believed if the Shenandoah had been able to use her full engine power she would not have been drawn into the storm.

The surviving crew members each came to the defense of the Shenandoah's cruising efficiency at today's session of the naval board of inquiry.

Refute Hall's Testimony.
Each witness refuted the former testimony of Colonel C. G. Hall, army observer aboard the Shenandoah that "if the dirigible had the use of her full engine power, she would have been able to avoid the vortex of storm."

Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, surviving senior officer of the Shenandoah, ordered Colonel Hall to admit his statement was "an assumption" and not a "statement of fact."

Modifies Testimony.
Colonel Hall further modified his testimony by declaring:

"I believe there have been no more reliable engines developed than those aboard the Shenandoah."

"Do you know if the engine failure you spoke of aboard the Shenandoah if your former testimony was a major or minor failure?" Rosenthal asked.

"I do not," Hall replied. "Do you know when the engines stopped?"

"I do not."

Causes of Many Radio Noises

Radio Not Yet in Fool-Proof Stage
—Methods of Avoiding Poor Reception—Dirty Prongs on Tubes May Be One Cause of Distortion.

Radio reception has not yet reached that fool-proof stage where it is only necessary to turn a switch to secure continuous satisfactory production.

How many times have you looked forward to some broadcast program of particular interest, only to be greeted by a flood of jumbled harshness belching from the horn of the loud speaker. It interferes with the program, it grates upon the nerves of the listener, and tries the patience of those people who desire quality reception unaccompanied by this objectionable noise.

By understanding the reasons for the various noises, you may obviate disappointments and get a quality of tone value that will be a continual delight, says the Service Department of the Freed-Eisenmann Radio Corporation.

Let us consider the sources of these noises.

First, we have the studio noises which may be defined as those noises which originate at the broadcasting station. Noisy microphones cause a steady hiss which often blurs the voice of the artist. Programs picked up outside of the studio and carried overland by wire for broadcasting are usually excessively noisy by induction from neighboring wires—a steady rushing sound, especially noticeable when the receiver is tuned to resonance is caused by the generator which supplies the plate potential to the transmitter tubes. This noise is more or less pronounced on all stations and continues until the broadcasting is finished and the station sign of the air. When this occurs the rushing sound suddenly disappears.

Noise contributed by the other medium may be defined as those sounds which are caused by electrical disturbances between the broadcasting station and the receiver itself. In this group are found the disturbing influences of high tension power lines, violent and X-ray machines, leaky transformers, electrically operated elevators, sparking motors and generators, trolley and elevated railway systems and telephone and telegraph wires. Electrical impulses from these undesirable sources usually occur at short wavelengths and are picked up by sensitive receivers. Static also comes in this class and is more or less prevalent throughout the summer months. Many satisfactory programs are suddenly broken up by a series of unfamiliar clicks and in many cases are interrupted entirely for short periods. These are caused by key clicks from continuous wave transmitters and by improperly operated regenerative and super-heterodyne receivers.

In the third class are the noises which are caused by the receiver itself or by the equipment which is used in connection with the same. Discharged "B" batteries become noisy and are usually the cause of a high pitched squeal when the receiver is operating on the second audio stage. These batteries should be discarded when their voltage drops below 34. Storage "B" batteries often cause the same trouble even when the voltage reading is high. Squeals in this case are caused by one or more dead cells which are usually not detected unless a voltmeter reading is taken of each individual cell.

Noises are sometimes caused by the vacuum tubes themselves. While identical in appearance, it sometimes happens that their internal elements are not rigidly supported, and any disturbance in the vicinity of the receiver may cause these elements to vibrate. This defect in construction produces a bell-like sound which may build up in volume and drown out the program. This may be overcome by shifting the tubes about in the sockets until a satisfactory combination is found.

A somewhat similar sound is sometimes caused by placing the loud speaker on top of the receiver or by pointing the horn in the direction of the receiver. This may be remedied by a slight change in the position of the horn.

Noises are also caused by dirty prongs of vacuum tubes or by sockets which do not make perfect contact. These noises may be overcome by sandpapering the prongs of the tubes or by bending up the spring contacts of the tube sockets.

FRIENDS REPLACE GOODS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Mount Marion, Sept. 24.—A pleasant surprise and shower was given Monday evening, September 21, at the church hall in Mount Marion to Miss Grace Sagendorf by her many friends from Lake Katrine, Ruby and Mount Marion. The church hall was crowded and the presents were many, mostly household goods. Miss Sagendorf's home was destroyed last month by fire, from which she and her friends escaped with just their lives. A very pleasant evening was spent Monday by all. A brief speech in behalf of the friends and the Ladies Aid Society was made by Mrs. Mary Gotterup. Music was furnished by Walter Werner and singing by the young ladies made it a very pleasant evening.

Refreshments were served under the supervision of the president of the Ladies Aid Society, Mrs. Fred Osterhout, and all friends and members of the Ladies Aid Society went to their homes wishing good luck to Miss Sagendorf in the future.

POULTRY
RIGHT ATTENTION TO MOLTING HENS

One of two things should be done with hens around molting time, says a raiser in an exchange. One is to let the older hens go before they fairly get to the time for shedding their feathers. They have now laid out their litter and must have some time to get through their "sick" period, during which they bring in nothing and keep eating. Every hen that is getting along in years should walk the plank, right now, unless she is specially valuable as a breeder. If we would sort our flocks over and do this early, we would be a good deal better off at the end of the season.

For the younger birds a different course must be followed. The one great thing is to get the hens back to laying after the molt as soon as we can, and have them in good physical condition. For that reason our treatment must not be so radical, as some advise, but natural and steady. If you watch a molting hen you will see that she is inclined to be weak and less vigorous than formerly. If she is not really sick, still she is "under the weather." This is because of the drain while losing the old plumage and growing a new crop of feathers.

Begin the treatment by cutting down on the food, especially the heavy, hearty food, for a few days. Meanwhile give the hens all possible chance to roam around at will. It may take some coaxing to get them to do this, but it is better for them than to dump about in the houses. The more the hen stirs around, the healthier she will be.

About the same ration may be given during the period of molting that is used when the hen is laying eggs regularly. But as the molt goes on, it is a good plan to add some oil meal, which enters into feather construction quite largely. Ten per cent of oil meal in a mash mixture, increasing to twice that, will do nicely. Watch the droppings and act accordingly. Don't give drugs; they are dangerous and may lead to trouble. Sunflower seeds are better than medicine. Be kind and patient with the molting birds.

Market Demands Plump, Well-Fattened Turkeys

The market demands plump, well-fattened turkeys and prime birds bring the best prices. In order to get the benefit of this extra price it is necessary that the turkeys intended for market be fattened by generous feeding for a period of three weeks to a month before marketing them. Experiments with confining turkeys at fattening time have not proven very satisfactory. By feeding the flock on good, sound, preferably old, corn sparingly at first and gradually increasing the amount until the birds are getting all they will eat along with all of the sour milk or buttermilk the birds will drink, it will be found that the "finch" put on, as well as the weight added, will more than pay for the extra effort required.

Before deciding upon which birds are to be selected for fattening, select and mark those that are to be kept for breeding stock. To sell the biggest and best is sure to result in a falling off in the vigor of the flock and consequent losses.

Poultry Characteristics

Physical strength:
Head—Short, broad and deep.
Beak—Short, stout, broad and well curved.
Eyes—Bright, alert and prominent.
Comb—Red in color, well developed in size.
Body—Broad, uniform in width, especially across the back.
Breast—Full and well developed.
Legs—Stout, placed directly beneath the bird, knee or back joints wide apart.
Toes—Straight and toenails well worn.
Physical weaknesses:
Head—Long, narrow and lacking depth from tip to base of beak; nostrils small and elongated.
Beak—Long, straight and pointed.
Eyes—Dull and sunken.
Comb—Undeveloped and often pale.
Body—Narrow, especially through back; lacking in depth.
Breast—Undeveloped and sharp.
Legs—Long and scrawny or bending.—Professor Hittenden, Iowa Agricultural College.

Tell Sex of Guinea

The male and the female guinea fow differ so little in appearance that many persons have considerable difficulty in making a distinction. Usually the males can be distinguished by their larger beak (comb) and wattle, also by a coarser band; but to be positive one should turn to the cry made by each bird. That of the female resembles "back-squint," and is decidedly different from the one-syllable "cluck" of the male.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 25, 1926

The death of Amy Lowell secured many times the newspaper space that has been given the death of Edith M. Thomas. Yet the latter was a true poet of extraordinary gifts and the former a free-verse sensationist with a genius for attracting notice. Miss Lowell was of her time. Miss Thomas had lived beyond hers.

On the subject of respect for law the prohibition report of the Federal Council of Churches contains this interesting paragraph: "The best authorities in psychology and education agree that a person's attitude toward law and government is not determined with reference to a single statute, and that hostility toward one law does not carry over into the whole field of the citizen's responsibility. The attitude of people toward their government, although it often gives cause for concern, rests upon a broader basis than the popularity of a single law. Every one takes some laws more seriously than others, and necessarily so. All laws have not the same importance, and some have greater social sanction than others. For this reason it would seem to be a mistake to rest the appeal for observance of prohibition laws merely upon the general duty to obey the law. Rather, an attitude of intelligent sympathy toward the law itself must be built up if it is to be generally observed."

MR. SAKLATVALA.

Mr. Saklatvala's name almost rhymes with and thus calls to mind Balaklava, where the British cavalry—as Fennyson worded it—desperately rode "into the mouth of hell" and triumphantly emerged from "the jaws of death." The issues connected with Mr. Saklatvala are less dramatic, but appear to be regarded as of great importance at Washington. He is a Parsee of India who, curious enough, was elected as a Communist member of the House of Commons in the British constituency. He wanted to attend the Interparliamentary session in this country, but when Mr. Kellogg was made acquainted with his sentiments he was barred out. It seems that the House of Commons elected him as a member, lets him speak furiously through his hat in an effort to overturn the British empire, and yawns in his face. But Mr. Kellogg seems to have feared that he might do mischief to the government of the United States as well as overturn the British empire and therefore took preventive action in good time.

The British Tories were pleased with an American policy which they are too wise to adopt themselves and promptly seized the opportunity to make political capital out of it. Sir Robert Horne announcing that "perhaps in time our English revolutionaries will realize that the country they traduce is the freest and most tolerant in the world." In other words, the policy of the British empire is to permit everybody to speak out, while that of the United States is suppression; England lets revolutionists blow off steam and exhaust themselves in the process, while America shuts them up.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

Among the tributes to the old-time country doctor, whose deeds of service were countless and whose efforts to relieve pain were tireless, few have approached that of the late, Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall in his "Recollections." Mr. Marshall's eloquence was the more genuine because he paid tribute not only to the country doctor in general but to that one of them who was his own father and served under pioneer conditions in the early days of Indiana. After a remarkably illustrious life and a mother, whom he regarded as among the world's choicest spirits, Mr. Marshall pays of his father's profession in general, in his father's time.

I think, if service is to be the true mark of greatness in a people, all these other wonders of a wonderful age and state must pale into insignificance beside the service and sacrifice of the country doctor. Who now remembers the conditions under which he sought to minister to minds and bodies diseased? Who now, by any stretch of the imagination, can bring to view the awful roads, the inhospitable houses that were called homes, the lack of furnaces, bathrooms, hot water, electricity, gas; mud everywhere; cracks in the houses everywhere; children waking in the morning with their blankets covered with snow; huge fireplaces where you roasted on one side and froze on the other? And add to it all a malarial climate. Chills and fever—fever and chills. Day in and day out, night in and night out, storm and sunshine, the country doctor went his rounds.

WELCOME NEWS.

It will be welcome news to sufferers from ulcer of the stomach and of the part of the intestine next to the stomach, to learn that many cases are now cured without the knife.

I have spoken of the method of using a fine tube which extended down the throat and past the stomach and first part of intestine. The upper end was fastened by adhesive tape to cheek so that it could slip down the throat. Through this tube liquid food was supplied to the patient and as it didn't touch the stomach, the stomach had a complete rest, and the ulcer healed up in two or three weeks. Feeding just two light meals a day has also been successful in curing ulcer, because the ulcer gradually healed up during the long rest periods between meals. However, a European physician has gone forward another step and has been successful in treating these cases by means of the X Ray. He reports a series of about forty cases, one-half of which were completely cured, and of the remainder at least one-half were very much improved. The big point he emphasizes is that this treatment didn't just ease the pain and give temporary relief, but actually healed the tissues, and the ulcer disappeared entirely.

In proof of this he submitted photographs taken before the treatments commenced and again at the end of three weeks' treatment. The little depression which showed the location of the ulcer in the first picture had completely disappeared in the second.

Now nature does her best to cure these ulcers and many patients have obtained relief by living on small quantities of soft foods.

However, the point that is forgotten frequently is that it is easily possible to start the trouble again by overeating and eating foods that have given trouble before.

It is encouraging to know that this distressing ailment can be cured, and kept that way, with a little care and self sacrifice.

INSTITUTE NEST OF OWLS

AT NEWBURGH SUNDAY

Kingston Nest of the Order of Owls, which has been formed in this city by District Supervisor Frank X. Hench at his office, 59 St. James street, will be instituted on Sunday afternoon, September 27, in the P. O. A. of A. Hall, 11 Chambers street, Newburgh, by Supreme Sentinel Walter E. White, who is director of New York organization department. Arrangements have been made for the charter members to leave from 742 Broadway in autos at noon in charge of Mr. Hench and the selective membership committee. The institution will be a gala affair as the Newburgh Nest will be installed at the same time after which there will be a supper served by the ladies, who will be installed in the evening. Delegations will be present from Albany, Troy, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, Cornwall, Port Jervis, Mount Vernon, New York city and Brooklyn. Among the visitors will be the Major Nest uniformed degree team from Brooklyn, Supreme Court Judge Harry Lewis of Brooklyn, Dr. Ralph W. Thompson of Cornwall-on-Hudson, the Hon. Edward L. Sylcox of Cornwall, Supreme Supervisor William J. Cunningham of Troy, Acting Mayor Frank G. Kearney of Poughkeepsie, Dr. Joseph R. Gindoff of Albany, Police Captain Joseph Barnagale of Troy and many other wise old Owls who will help plume the wings of the new fledglings.

Millions of Coins Unused

In the United States millions of coins to the value of about $1,000,000 are being turned out daily, that are destined never to go into circulation. They are coined to balance the output of gold certificates as there is a law that at least one-third of all gold certificates issued must be represented by actual gold coins in the treasury. Nearly $300,000,000 in gold coins is needed for the background for the $270,000,000 outstanding gold certificates.

Fraud Misinterpreted?

"There are many in these days who profess to find support in the Freudian psychology for the claim that all representations should be abandoned. This is a most ludicrous misunderstanding. The Freudian doctrines are much nearer to being a triumphant vindication of the methods of living prescribed by conventional morality."—Ellen Mayo, in Harper's Magazine.

THE SCHOLASTIC PERIOD.

The duration of the scholastic period in the education of the individual necessarily varies much. Some are privileged to go to school but very little. Others finish the common school, go to college and from there to the university.

Many college and university students are wonderfully benefited; others are not. Many in all fail to win the game of life in spite of extensive schooling.

A great many who either could not or would not go to school very much charge their failure eventually to the lack of education. Others who could not or would not go to school succeed in a big way.

An unprejudiced analysis of facts shows that school training and education in the sense of development of one's constructive powers are not synonymous terms. The student in school, college or university who is consciously working to the end of correctly nourishing and correctly using his constructive powers cannot help but gain great good. On the other hand the student in school, college or university who simply goes because he has to go without any definite knowledge of why he is going may derive very little good, he may be positively harmed.

The mere book worm may leave the university with a bad case of mental indigestion instead of an education. President Emeritus Elliot of Harvard once said that he would never be satisfied with our system of education until about one-half of the student's time was consumed in gaining useful knowledge and the other half in applying or using the useful knowledge gained.

Dr. President Hadley of Yale since his retirement from the presidency is bravely and fearlessly taking the stand that the conscious end in view of the scholastic period of education must be made the education or development of the whole man. He sees with clearness the fact that this cannot be accomplished by the cold storage system of stuffing the student's head with facts from books.

America is justly proud of her schools, her colleges and her universities. They are great. It does not follow from this, however, that they cannot become greater. They can and will become far greater in the matter of the correct guidance of each student to the end of the development of his or her constructive powers.

DARK TRAGEDY END OF "PUFFY LOVE" ROMANCE

Youth Confesses He Killed
Sweetheart Because She Asked Him To

Garden City, N. Y.—A writing romance of "puffy love" recently turned to stark tragedy here. The charred body of a pretty seventeen-year-old girl, Myrtle Healy, now rests in the grave and her confessed murderer, William Meeks, twenty-one years old, is serving a sentence of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

"I killed her because she wanted me to," Meeks wrote in a signed confession, according to Prosecuting Attorney J. A. Hanson.

Hours of getting down the boy, but Meeks, twenty-one, and he sobbed out a story of love and folly, fear and tragedy.

Pretty little Myrtle Healy, seventeen, had captivated him. She was one of four pretty daughters of a highly respected Garden City family. They fell in love. She was true to him, and he was true to her.

Their love led them beyond the bounds of wisdom, and not long ago William Meeks faced the first trial of their lives.

Disgrace Is Feared.
Refused not to bring disgrace upon his family, Myrtle decided that death was sweeter than the life she faced. She pleaded with William to end it.

Touched a Match to the Strawstack.

One Sunday night William drove into the country five miles north here. They drove into a pasture for a strawstack.

"Father will kill you if you do not tell me," Myrtle told William, according to his story to the county attorney. Meeks said he was reluctant. Her pleadings unavailing, he said.

In the confession Meeks signed he said he finally struck her over the head with a tire iron. As she crumpled to the ground he wound her scarf tightly around her neck. Then he lit her body in the strawstack.

Driving to Bradley, William took another girl to a picture show. After he had taken her home he drove back to the strawstack and touched a match to it, his alleged confession said.

On Monday Sheriff E. P. Sly started a search for the missing girl. Meeks, her alleged murderer, joined the searching party. He led them to the burned strawstack. Nothing was found there.

The strange actions of the boy aroused the sheriff's suspicions and he questioned him. Later the body of the girl, burned beyond recognition, was found in the straw ashes.

Farmer, 90, Stabs Bandit and Roofs 2 Companions
Jamaica, Mich.—Following an attempt to hold up Zora E. McGonagall, twenty-year-old farmer, and his son, Zora E. McGonagall, Jr., at their home near here, one man is believed to be dying of stab wounds in a Kalamazoo hospital and two companions have been charged with the crime.

James Hickok, twenty-three, is the oldest man and Raymond Clark, thirty-three, and Earl Stendel, twenty-one, are the pair held in the Kalamazoo county jail. All three live in Kalamazoo.

According to Sheriff Gordon, Clark and Stendel confessed they bound and gagged the Junior McGonagall in a barn and then visited the house, trying to cut his bonds and then engaged in a hand-to-hand battle with the man, while the third waited in an automobile near by. The man who used a sword cane with an ornate hilt blade.

Born Ex-Officials
South—Five former ministers of a Methodist church in the City of South Carolina are reported to have been burned to death in the cells of the city prison here, according to persistent rumors from that city. Opponents of the government claim that the prison purposely set fire to get rid of dangerous political foes. C. W. H. and Peter Jacob. Four ministers are reported within the last days.

Stetson HATS

Married to Death
Worcester, Mass.—A man protruding from the spire of the First Unitarian church recently damaged by a lightning bolt, cut the rope suspending a boardwalk chair, and sent John Chancer, eighteen-year-old Worcester streetcar boy, plunging 100 feet to his death.

Colts Fight Bull,
Save His Master
New York—George J. Purdy, of Granite Springs, near Croton, suffered a dislocated shoulder and three fractured ribs when a bull attacked him but was rescued by his colts which answered his call for help.

Purdy was leading the bull, which weighs 2,000 pounds. Suddenly the bull rushed at him and pinned him to the ground. He shouted for help. The dog jumped repeatedly at the bull's head, according to Purdy, until the bull retreated.

WHIRLWIND WORKER
FLEES FIANCEE
Courts and Wine Girl in Day,
Then Vanishes.
Boston.—David came, conquered and then left. And now, his bride-to-be and lots of others are seeking him.

David, who gave his last name as Rubin, a smooth, dapper individual, who said that he came from Miami where he owned a bank, and with Rochester and Bryan, most of the real estate in Florida, was a fast worker. He met a girl in the morning, was engaged to her by noon, "bought" a house for her by afternoon, and had left with her jewelry and her mother's money by the next morning.

During Rubin's week in Boston, he cashed a neat bundle of checks, all on the bank which he "owned" in Miami, among a host of admiring and newly-acquired acquaintances. They total into thousands.

He "bought" a tailor shop and a lot of sewing machines. A sewing machine man cashed $350 of his checks. He gave a real estate man a check for $1,500 on a $21,000 house; he had his girl's mother cash another check for $80 just to buy a few Havana cigars to celebrate his engagement.

And then, leaving his girl waiting in a hotel parlor in New York, where he had taken her to be married, he vanished.

Ohio Man Wears Girl's Clothes for 25 Years
Warren, Ohio.—Twenty-five years in existence as a girl ended for Leona Peters of Martins Ferry when she became George Myers, a full-fledged man.

Ten days ago the girl-man came to Warren dressed in a man's clothes for the first time and went to work. About the same time another youth, Clarence Myers, and a girl sixteen years old disappeared from Martins Ferry. The girl's father traced them and came to reclaim his daughter. He also found the second Martins Ferry youth. He recognized him as a lifelong resident of the latter city, where he had always posed as a girl, Leona Peters.

According to police, George Myers' mother was disappointed at the time of his birth that a daughter had not come to her and had dressed him as a girl. He retained this costume, until he came to Warren, doing electrical work at Martins Ferry in feminine attire. He decided to quit wearing dresses by leaving the old home town.

Jealous Dog Kills Baby, Goes on Hunger Strike
Berlin.—A dog, jealous of the attention which its woman owner showed to an adopted baby, bit the child to death. The dog then went on a hunger strike, which is attributed to remorse. The victim was Felix Brummen, taken from an orphanage by Mrs. Anna Soldt. The foster mother left the house for a moment, leaving the baby on a couch in the living room and the dog in the kitchen. When she returned she found the baby dead, badly bitten in the back of the head. The dog, sulking in the back of the kitchen, refused to move.

Mosquito Bites Kill Man
Trapped Hours in a Bog
New York.—Mosquitoes are believed to have caused one death and possibly a second in Blackwacker river swamp near Rutherford, N. J.

Bernard Worm, while berry-picking, stepped into a bog. A friend Herman Roehrs, tried to pull him out, but was hours in getting him to high ground. Meanwhile, big mosquitoes and little mosquitoes had bitten him, and he succumbed. Roehrs is now in a serious condition also from mosquito bites.

A third man is missing and is believed to have fallen into the same bog and died from mosquito bites.

Born With Tail
San Antonio, Texas.—The birth of a child with a three-inch tail-like appendage to the spinal column was reported to the health authorities by Dr. Valeriano Palomo, city physician.

The child, a girl, was born Sunday and is normal in every respect except for the tail-like structure.

The parents, both normal, Doctor Palomo declared, have agreed to an operation on the child when it is seven months old.

ADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

Mary Graham Bonner

THE LAMB TWINS

"Blest, blest, joy, much joy," said Mother Lamb.
"Blest, blest, joy, much joy," said Father Lamb.
"Blest, blest, joy, much joy," said the twins.
"Isn't it fine?" asked Mother Lamb.
"Fine," said Father Lamb, from his nearby yard.
"Fine," said the twins, "we love the world."
"Is that why you say it is fine?" asked Mother Lamb.
"Don't you know of something else that is fine, too?" asked Father Lamb.
"Perhaps they don't understand," said Mother Lamb.
"Perhaps not," agreed Father Lamb.
"Then if you aren't sure whether we do understand or not," said one of the twins, "you had better tell us."
"We were happy because you seemed so happy," said the other twin. "So we bleated the same things you did."
"I see," said Mother Lamb.
"I see," said Father Lamb.
"We're glad you feel so young and friendly and you don't say we make you nervous."
"We've heard people coming to the zoo say that to their twins, and to their children. You call yourselves

"We Love the World."

Mother and Father Lamb and we think that is so nice."
"Blest, blest, blest," said Mother Lamb, "the dear twins like me."
"That is one of the reasons we bleated with joy," said one of the twins.
"That, and because we love the world," said the other, "before, or perhaps we should say, the zoo."
"Then, too, it was such fun to go as you did and to say the same little bleats."
"Ah, but the reason I am bleating," said Mother Lamb, "is because the head keeper came over a little while ago, and he christened you, which means in the lamb world that he merely gave you names which you'll have all your lives."
"He named you both after two very famous and noble men, great, noble, famous men."
"And oh, what Mother Lamb wouldn't bleat with joy when her twins were so honored!"
"He thought my darlings worthy of such fine names. Yes, that was what the keeper thought."
"Then I put up a sign outside of our yard which gave the names of my two Lamb twins upon it, and everyone who comes around now will know what an honor it is, for everyone has heard of these famous gentlemen."
"So, Lamb twins, I bleat with joy and because of the great honor."
"I bleat, too," said Father Lamb, "because I am the father of such honored, as well as such darling twins."
"So all the Lamb family bleated and were extremely happy."
"Then Mother Lamb sang a lamb lullaby to her twins."

Sleep, sleep, sleep.
My dear, my dear little lambs.
Sleep, sleep, sleep.
Mother Lamb has no cause to weep.

Rest, rest, rest.
My dear, my dear little lambs.
Rest, rest, rest.
Mother Lamb says you are the best!

Dose, dose, dose.
My dear, my dear little lambs.
Dose, dose, dose.
May you ever be free of toes.

Dream, dream, dream.
My dear, my dear little lambs.
Dream, dream, dream.
My dear, my dear little lambs:

Good Joke on Thief
Six-year-old Freddy, bred in the city, was on his first visit to his uncle's farm. At breakfast he heard that his uncle's Jersey cow had been stolen during the night.
"That's a good joke on the man who stole her," was Freddy's comment.
"Why?" asked his uncle.
"Why, just before supper last night the hired man took all the milk out of her."

Modern Women
A beautiful young nursemaid had been accused of murder, and had gratefully kissed all the Jermans, and the Jermans had wept and parted her pretty shoulder and bidden her go and do no more.
"Modern women!" said Butler Jackson, the New York critic, as he looked on the episode. "It reminds me of a police court scene."
"You are unamused?" a magistrate said to a man in a police court.
"Unamused?" cried the man. "Where did I get this broken arm, your honor?"

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Declaration of Independence by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

HIGH LIGHTS OF THE DECLARATION

WHEN IN THE COURSE OF HUMAN EVENTS IT BECOMES NECESSARY FOR ONE PEOPLE TO DISSOLVE THE POLITICAL BANDS WHICH HAVE CONNECTED THEM WITH ANOTHER AND TO ASSUME AMONG THE POWERS OF THE EARTH THE SEPARATE AND EQUAL STATION TO WHICH THE LAWS OF NATURE AND OF NATURE'S GOD ENTITLE THEM, A DECENT RESPECT TO THE OPINIONS OF MANKIND REQUIRES THAT THEY SHOULD DECLARE THE CAUSES WHICH IMPEL THEM TO THE SEPARATION.

(THEN FOLLOWS A LIST OF THE KING'S TYRANNICAL ACTS AND CONTINUES)

WE THEREFORE, SOLEMNLY PUBLISH AND DECLARE, THAT THESE UNITED COLONIES ARE AND OF RIGHT OUGHT TO BE FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES-- AND FOR THE SUPPORT OF THIS DECLARATION-- WE MUTUALLY PLEDGE TO EACH OTHER OUR LIVES, OUR FORTUNES, AND OUR SACRED HONOR.

TOMORROW-- RECEPTION OF THE DECLARATION.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Remembrance is the sweetest flower.
Of all this world's perfume;
Memory guards it, sun or shower;
Friendship keeps it blooming.

SOUR CREAM DISHES

When one has a cupful or two of sour cream it is nice to know several ways of using it.

Dressed Eggs.—Cook six eggs in the shell until hard. Cut into halves lengthwise, remove the yolks and mash with a fork, adding enough thick sour cream to moisten. Add mustard, salt and a little red pepper. If the cream is too sweet add a dash of lemon juice and put the mixture back into the whites.

Sour Cream Pie.—To one cupful of sour cream add two-thirds of a cupful of raisins chopped, one and one-half tablespoonsful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, the yolks of the two eggs, and a little salt. Bake in one crust and use the whites of the eggs for a meringue.

Meringue.—Take a cupful of thick sour cream, two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of chopped raisins, two-thirds of a cupful of butter, two well-beaten eggs, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, with flour to make a dough as stiff as can be stirred. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a well-greased pan, leaving plenty of room to spread. A raisin or nut may be added to each to garnish.

Quick Cream Cookies.—To one cupful of sour cream add one cupful of sugar, one egg, two and one-half cupsful of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, with salt and flavoring to taste. Drop by spoonfuls on well-greased pans, pat out and sprinkle with sugar, adding a nut or a raisin. Bake in a quick oven.

Sweet Potato Pie.—Take a cupful of sour cream, one cupful of sugar, one pint of mashed sweet potato, the yolks of four eggs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half a nutmeg, salt all well mixed together. Bake in one crust and spread with strained honey while hot.

Graham Muffins.—Take one cupful of sour cream, one cupful of graham flour, one teaspoonful of soda and one tablespoonful of sugar, a beaten egg, all well mixed. Bake in buttered gem pans.

Good Joke on Thief
Six-year-old Freddy, bred in the city, was on his first visit to his uncle's farm. At breakfast he heard that his uncle's Jersey cow had been stolen during the night.
"That's a good joke on the man who stole her," was Freddy's comment.

EAT HALF POUND OF MEAT A DAY

Average Daily Consumption in United States is 55,000,000 Pounds.

Chicago.—Between 55,000,000 and 60,000,000 pounds of meat and meat products are consumed daily by the people of the United States, according to a statement issued by the Institute of the American Meat Packers. Consumption of meat in the last year averaged 165 pounds per capita, or half a pound a person a day. In addition the lard utilized in this country represented 15.8 pounds per capita. The daily meat ration of eight ounces is made up of about 2 1/2 ounces of beef, 4 ounces of pork, 2 1/2 of an ounce of veal and 1/4 of an ounce of lamb.

"Virtually all of the meat eaten in the United States is produced here," says the institute. "Last year only 34,000,000 pounds of meat were imported—considerably less than 1 per cent of our domestic production, and only about enough to last our population through breakfast and lunch."

"Exports of meat in the last year, consisting almost entirely of pork and lard, approximated 1,750,000,000 pounds, worth $240,000,000."

Discussing the wide range of tastes in meat, the institute points out that the preferences are in a general way geographical, although there are exceptions to this rule that cannot be explained. Minneapolis and St. Paul, for instance, although Twin Cities, prefer beef cuts of different qualities. There is a kind of local atmosphere about taste in meats which is as marked as local accent, says the institute.

Sectional Differences in Taste.

"Sectional differences of taste long have been well known in the meat trade," it is said. "It is a manifestation that hitherto has been observed without anyone bethinking very much for an explanation. In fact, explanation is not easy. How, for instance, can any one explain that, in the Twin Cities, Minneapolis, though having a greater trade in heavy-fed cattle than St. Paul, nevertheless consumes on its own tables a leaner beef than St. Paul? A Minneapolis retail butcher usually takes a dressed beef animal which weighs 150 to 200 pounds less than does his neighbor across the river."

"Boston, as a market unit, may be said to consume the heaviest beef of any city. A lighter meat is required the further one goes south along the coast. 'Consumptive demand varies greatly among the populations of different sections of the country,' to quote from 'The Packing Industry,' a study by experts of aspects of the meat industry, included in the business training publications of the Chicago University Press."

"There is, in addition, an interesting diversity in the balance of various classes of meat within the diets of people living in different parts of our far-flung country. And there is, as probably every one would divine, a considerable difference in the ratios of meat eaten by urban and rural dwellers. City and town folks eat more beef, veal and mutton than country folk, but the big outdoors asserts its influence in the matter of pork, for here country consumption runs clear away from city records."

"Four years ago a nation-wide canvass was carried out which is accepted as the best available guide on this matter. As is well known, the United States Department of Agriculture maintains a staff of reporters all over the country. Most of these men were asked to 'make careful estimates of the per capita consumption with subdivision of the people of their district into urban and rural, and estimates for each class; the request was for pounds of dressed weight as would be sold by the butcher. The results of this inquiry were confirmed by other national statistics. They are summarized into geographical and meat classes in the following table:

Individual Consumption.

Meat	Urban	Rural
Beef—Pounds Consumed Per Person
North Atlantic	112.5	107.1
North Central, East	112.5	107.1
North Central, West	112.5	107.1
South Atlantic	112.5	107.1
South Central	112.5	107.1
Western	112.5	107.1

Pork—Pounds Consumed Per Person	Urban	Rural
North Atlantic	112.5	107.1
North Central, East	112.5	107.1
North Central, West	112.5	107.1
South Atlantic	112.5	107.1
South Central	112.5	107.1
Western	112.5	107.1

"Although Americans consume a fairly large amount of meat—the average per capita in 1923 was 167 pounds—they eat comparatively little veal and mutton. The yearly amounts for the whole country combined, taken from the same estimates, show the following distribution among city and country folk:

Meat	Urban	Rural
Veal and Lamb	112.5	107.1
Meat and Lamb	112.5	107.1

"An interesting conclusion from these returns is that the city dweller, with more confined, sedentary occupation, is more given to the leaner type of meat. This has been confirmed by the experience of runners within the last twenty years. They have noticed not merely a preference for home-raised cuts of somewhat lighter weight, but have observed also a gradual tendency away from fat meat and toward leaner meat. No argument, of course, can be obtained on the relative lean-ness and fatness of meat consumption; even the most drastic of the contemporary laws of the Middle Ages—which were designed as much to equalize food distribution as to regulate the amount consumed—could not provide such figures. But it is that the average weight of live stock, allowing for a few ups and downs, has been downward for some years."

"Veal and muttons generally prefer much heavier cuts than do butcher's shops doing a family trade. But hotel catering, like hotel life in its other aspects, is much the same from Atlantic to Pacific, and for that reason probably the most traveled persons are least likely to be aware of the curious sectional tastes that exist throughout the United States.

New York Takes All Kinds.

"New York is the most catholic of our areas in its meat tastes. It takes all grades and classes of beef. The downtown section wants beef of heavy weights, the Hudson River section wants medium to choice beef of lighter weights, while Long Island wants the best lightweights. The big Jewish trade in 'kosher' meat calls for a high-grade animal."

"The Mid-West consumes fair to medium grades from light butcher cattle preferably."

"These odd preferences sometimes break down the bars of geography and play strange tricks with supplies. Fort Worth and Oklahoma City, for example, says the book previously mentioned, supply very little meat for the densely populated section of the country directly east of the Ohio border. This section draws upon the Missouri river markets—Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha and Sioux City—and upon St. Louis and Chicago. On the other hand, Fort Worth and Oklahoma City can market a product in the Southeastern states to much better advantage than the river markets, because they have a product best suited to this demand."

"One of the largest plants in Chicago sends from 85 to 88 per cent of its pork and pork products into the Middle Atlantic states. A large Sioux City plant sends 70 per cent of its pork products to this same section, while a St. Paul plant, owned by the same firm, distributes only 20 per cent of its pork and pork products in this area."

"In his pamphlet, 'Food Animals and Meat Consumption in the United States,' John Roberts of the bureau of animal industry states: 'The people of Argentina consume the most beef; the British meat dietary has the closest balance of beef, mutton and pork; and the Germans are, relatively, the greatest pork consumers.' Incidentally, the fact may be stated that three countries only, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand, consume more meat per person than the United States. In each case they are countries of sparse population and large surpluses of cattle and sheep."

Elaborate Styling Essence of Youthful Wearables for Autumn.

The early fall fashion shows confirm our oft-repeated prediction that elaborate styling is to be the essence of the autumn wardrobe. As a fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune. Short, wide skirts, extremely high necklines, long sleeves and the frequent use of cape themes have been the outstanding style features of the first exhibitions. Except in strict sports costumes the flare has entirely vanquished the straightline, and back decoration is another new theme.

For evening wear the robe de style is most charming for the subdeboutante. Lanvin is the great leader in this type of gown and makes it exquisitely in taffeta or satin, picturesque in all its long draperies that reach the ground, and enriched with embroidery that still retain the simplicity of youthfulness. Her favorite adornment of trailing ribbons from shoulder or waist is one that is perfectly adapted to the requirements of gentle youth.

Tulle is a material that has much to be said for it where the young girl is concerned. Its diaphanous quality gives a flowerlike setting to fresh young complexions and the daintiness of its flounces is as girlish as anyone could desire. Flowers and ribbons, which are its essential trimmings, only emphasize the note of youthfulness.

The subdeboutante must be careful where her jewelry is concerned. The large diamond brooch is not for her. She should choose something simple in jade or crystal and follow it up by a charming necklace of beads to match.

Reboux is showing many delightful hats of crocheted straws so fine that they resemble bengal or bangkok straw much more than crocheted. These crocheted hats are a regular craze in Paris now. They are small cloche shapes with the crowns slightly flattened on the top and trimmed either with ribbon bands or with a cluster of flowers placed over one ear.

Marcelle Dumay is trimming some of her late hats with motifs of flat ostrich laid against the crown. The ostrich is clipped so that it looks something like triangles, squares and the like before being placed on the crown.

Accessories Worn With Popular Purple Outfit

The vogue of purple which threatens to engulf the entire world of fashion has apparently not reached the crest, for reports from Paris and the important American fashion centers continue to emphasize this color in all its varying tones.

In Paris it is said there is a tendency to use a deeper, more subdued tone than the rather violent shade featured in American fashions. It is a color somewhat more flattering, and in purple almost more than any other shade becomingness should be considered.

Many women find the tone with a reddish cast more suitable to their particular types, while others look best in shades with considerable more blue in the coloring.

In wearing purple the question of accessories is of paramount importance. Gray may be combined with it in the form of shoes, stockings, gloves and hats, although one well-known fashion authority recently stated that the slender pump of black patent leather was the most appropriate shoe to wear with frocks of purple crepe or georgette.

Slip-on Gloves

Gloves that will slip on easily and still present a smart trim appearance have now been achieved. They are of English doe skin with six-lace lappet patterns with elastic at the wrist. A suitable guest wears a shapely appearance and comfort. They are usually worn in white.

Psychical Drawings

Light sketches showing how Ombre hair, now a vogue, once looked and suggesting to have been drawn under psychic conditions, are the work of a Londoner, who never before made an architectural drawing.

SHOOTING FOR BEEF FRONTIER PASTIME

Remarkable Marksmanship of Backwoodsmen

"Squirrel-barking," "driving the nail" and "shooting for beef" were among the most popular shooting pastimes among the early frontiersmen living on the border line of civilization in old "Kaintuck" and Ohio. Arthur Woodward, writing in Adventure Magazine, tells us:

In squirrel-barking the marksman selected the bit of bark underneath the animal, as it rested on trunk or branch of a tree, and endeavored to hit the bark at such an angle that it would fall and concussion, rather than a direct hit.

Driving the nail was the usual means of testing the marksmanship of a man on the border. To do this an ordinary nail was hammered into a tree for about two-thirds its length. The distance was generally set at forty paces or 120 feet. Powder for the charge was poured into the hole, as much as would cover a ball being considered about the right amount for any distance under one hundred yards. The barrel of the weapon was well cleaned and the ball, placed in a ground linen pouch, was home with vigorous strokes of a stout lathery "spring stick." The distant borderers generally carried two wiping sticks in case of emergency.

A fair shot was one that struck alongside the nail, a good shot one that bent it, but the man who hit the nail plumb center was considered an excellent marksman. Not infrequently two or three nails would be needed before half a dozen men each had one shot apiece. The winners, after the indifferent shooters had been eliminated, then tried out for high place.

In the early thirties, shooting for beef was a popular pastime. These particular shooting bees were held in late summer when the cattle were fat and the marksmen would get the most for their money.

The usual procedure was for some man who owned cattle and wished to dispose of a beef at a fair price to advertise that on such-and-such a day a beef would be shot for.

When the appointed day came around all of the marksmen in the neighborhood gathered at the designated spot and a subscription paper was passed around stating that "Mr. So and So offers a beef worth twenty dollars to be shot for, at twenty-five cents a shot." Then each person present who desired to compete would put down the amount of shots he desired. Each man had his own target marked with a cross in the center as a bull's eye.

The winning shot was the hide and tallow which was considered the first choice. The next highest got the choice of the two hind quarters. The third took the remaining hind quarter. The fourth took first choice of the front quarters, the fifth the remaining quarter. The sixth man, not having any beef to choose from, was allowed all of the lead in the tree against which the targets had been placed. Occasionally some good shot would win nearly the entire beef.

In speaking of these beef-shooting matches it might be of interest to state that there was a story current on the Ohio in the early days regarding the famous—or infamous—beastman, Mike Fink, who, because of his remarkable ability with a squirrel rifle was generally barred from such affairs, being credited the best shot or "bang-all" in the country.

However, Mike didn't let the matter rest with his exclusion. His price for keeping out of beef shooting was the "fifth quarter," as the hide and tallow was called. In other words the first prize, which in turn he generally disposed of to the nearest tavern keeper for a gallon of very "Monongahela" whiskey, his favorite.

New Way to Purify Water

Two scientists in Paris recently dropped a bottle containing chloride of lime in a vessel of impure water. The bottle was corked tightly so that its contents could not come in contact with the water. Yet 24 hours later, when the bottle was taken out, 25 per cent of the microbes in the water had been killed. An explanation advanced is that the antiseptic gave off rays that attack microbes. Just as ultra-violet rays do, says Popular Science Monthly.

A Secret And sunny shampoo

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have glorious hair, as millions of women know. Its glint is like a halo, on the stage or on the street. I don't know how I get it. I only know that it comes to me through what they call a Fruity Shampoo. Very wonderful men perfected it for me, but they never would give me the formula. They say that one ingredient gives that matchless glint, but they never would tell me what it is.

But they make it for me to supply to you, just as they make it for me. It is the greatest shampoo in existence. I say that after trying scores of them—and searching the world for the best.

I want you to try it. I want you to see the luster that it adds to hair. I would not take a fortune for what it has done for mine.

I cannot tell you the secrets of its wizard-like result. They have never been told to me. But those results will amaze and delight you. Ask any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity Shampoo, and you'll get exactly what I use. The price is 50 cents. And your dealer will return your money if you think that any other shampoo gives within a mile of this. For your own sake, see what it does.

Mail the coupon for a sample bottle and a Fruity Book.

For Trial Bottle
Mail this today to Edna Wallace Hopper, 550 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. Enclose 10c for postage and packing. I want to try Fruity Shampoo.

SPORTS DRESSES OFTEN HAVE ANIMAL OR OTHER NOVEL FEATURES

Novelty velvets have injected themselves into the sports field and provide interest and variety to the jumper type—the dominating sports idea of the season. A soft velvet in bayadera stripes involving green, tan and brown, was made with a jumper and a skirt pleated in the front panel. It needed, of course, no trimming, for when materials are of interest and the line is right, what more can be desired?

Here is shown a smart tunic dress for autumn wear. The model is in noon crepe, and of course, it carries that gay badge of fashion—a saucy little scarf with trimmed ends.

Points to Consider in Completing Toilette

It is unquestionably the added small touch of ornament or trimming that stamps the toilette as smart or otherwise, writes a fashion correspondent in the New York Times. Dressing has gradually become standardized and is practically in the hands of experts. One cannot help buying clothes that are smart, but one is free to add any of the myriad small touches personal taste selects. It is just here that a woman proves whether she has good taste.

To begin with, there are three points to be answered every time a woman steps forth after her toilette is completed. Has she selected the proper clothes to set off her individual style? Does her complete costume present a balanced and harmonious picture? Is she properly dressed for the occasion? These three questions must be answered in the affirmative if the effect is to be really chic.

Thousands of women know how to dress their own type. Perhaps hundreds give thought to the spirit of the complete whole, but there are few who understand exactly what toilette best suits the occasion, and it is only when these three cardinal points are considered together that we obtain the perfect result.

It is not so much a matter of taste as it is of thought. Taste can be cultivated easily enough. We have proved that with our major clothes. Also we all love to dress becomingly. Where we fail is in giving the matter proper thought. We turn to admire a perfectly turned-out woman and wish that we could achieve the same air of distinction with our own clothes, but we do not give the proper thought and time to accomplishing this, and we impulsively rush in to buy some beautiful bag, chain, scarf or what-not, without regard to whether it will blend with any of our clothes or not. There have never been such beautiful accessories to dress as there are just now, and it should be the ambition of each woman to choose these intelligently.

Consider Suitability
in Selection of Frocks

While a tendency toward a somewhat greater elaboration in formal clothes is gradually creeping into the mode, in the fashions designed for daytime and for country wear, simplicity is the unfailing rule. There probably has never been a time when informal clothes expressed in every line and detail a greater sense of the fitness of things and of the essential purpose for which they were created, than they do at the present time.

Women have learned much within the past decade as to the why and wherefore of the mode, but nothing of greater moment than the fact that suitability is the guiding factor in the selection of clothes.

In the accentuated simplicity of sports and resort fashions is that indubitable charm and set a little of their distinction. Materials also have much to do with their attractiveness, and color contributes immensely to the effective result.

Silks of the washable type in plain colors and in both striped and plaid designs are best for the simplest of little sports dresses, and while gay colors are sometimes seen, the greater majority are in the faint pastel colors of the more definite crayon tones of pink, blue, green, yellow and violet, the latter at present extremely featured throughout every phase of fashion.

Dancing as a Cure

Among some of the tribes of Africa dancing is held to be a cure. The performers become worked up and wildly excited, and many of them become affected and the disease spreads, although the afflicted person for whom the dance was given may be cured.

Make your cake with Snowdrift—grease the pans with Snowdrift—and make the icing with Snowdrift.

Make doughnuts with Snowdrift—and then fry the doughnuts in Snowdrift.

Every use for a shortening or frying-fat is an opportunity to find out how good Snowdrift is. And using Snowdrift in your own favorite recipes is the best way of all to find out how much better it is than any fat you ever used before.

The Wesson Oil people make Snowdrift out of oil as good as fine salad oil—hardened and whipped into a creamy white fat—and packed in an airtight can to keep it as sweet and fresh as the day it was made.

Try it in your favorite cake.

It is much easier to cream because it is already so creamy itself. It is so delicate that it makes your cake very rich without changing the flavor. It is 100% pure fat, without salt or water, so add a pinch of salt if you have been using butter in your recipe.

Try Snowdrift in pie-crust—rich, tender, flaky. Snowdrift may not make you a better cook, but the family are likely to think so.

Try Snowdrift in pie-crust—rich, tender, flaky. Snowdrift may not make you a better cook, but the family are likely to think so.

Fry in Snowdrift and see how delicious and wholesome fried food can be. A crispy brown crust forms so quickly that the food does not absorb too much fat and, inside this thin crust, cooks to a tempting lightness and daintiness.

Snowdrift is very economical as a frying fat—especially in deep frying. Strain it, to remove any crumbs of food, and you can use it over and over again for frying different things.

This is true to some extent of any fat. But here is one advantage of Snowdrift. It will not absorb the odor or flavor of any food cooked in it—not even fish nor onions. You may use it over and over again.

And Snowdrift is not altered much by heating to cooking temperature. Much cooking fat has to be thrown out after you have used it a few times. But Snowdrift is altered so little by heating that you can use it up and not waste it. It is almost as good the last time you use it as the first.

August Rate Low For Auto Deaths

Heretofore August Has Been One of The Worst Months—Suggestions for Making Highway Travel Safer.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago (Special) Sept. 25.—The motor vehicle death rate decreased during the month of August according to an announcement made today by the National Safety Council following reports from 80 cities.

The reduction is rather surprising according to Carroll E. Robb, statistician for the council, since previous experience has always indicated that the month of August was one of the worst, if not the worst, month for automobile accidents.

Three hundred and sixty-eight persons were killed in automobile accidents in the cities reporting to the council, lowering the rate to .418 from the July rate of .512.

More than 72 per cent of the victims of fatal automobile accidents were pedestrians and 40 per cent of the pedestrian victims were under 15 years of age.

In addition to the fatalities there were reported more than 8,000 non-fatal, personal injury accidents. In 4,535 accidents there were 3,554 private passenger cars, 623 trucks or commercial vehicles, 226 taxicabs, 62 jitneys, 64 buses and 112 motorcycles involved.

Home accidents continued low during August, the daily death rate per million population being .303 while the rate for July was .282 and for June .457. Twenty-seven cities with 9,000,000 population reported 82 home fatalities while 19 reported 50 deaths from industrial accidents. Thirty-five of the cities reporting add 144 deaths from public accidents other than automobiles.

"Courtesy and thoughtfulness for others feelings and welfare should make the highway safe," said Mr. Robb, commenting on the report. When a motorist cuts in, the vehicles behind him are required to slow up. This is a discourteous practice and the reports indicate that it is a dangerous practice. Contesting for the right of way shows lack of sportsmanship. Better cooperation on the part of motorists in this matter would result in a reduction of accidents.

"Motorists should be especially watchful of children and old people in the streets. From the standpoint of waste and speed, the advantage is all in favor of the motorist. The motorist who takes this advantage of the pedestrian is discourteous. He is more than discourteous, he is responsible for a large portion of the automobile-pedestrian accidents. More courtesy and greater thoughtfulness will make motoring a pleasure and the highways safe."

Ten Persons Living in One Room in Dublin

Dublin.—The Dublin city commissioners, who have just completed 245 new houses for the working classes, have had 4,000 applications for the houses and have decided to allot them in accordance with the size of the families.

There are 21 families of at least 12 persons each, 499 of 11 persons, and 76 of 10 persons. There are in Dublin many families of 10 persons who are living in single-roomed tenements.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE PINK THINGUMMY

"OH, DEAR, Aesop!" complained Mrs. Dumkopf. "I ordered a blue thingummy and they went and sent me up a pink one, and thingummies aren't supposed to be exchangeable and I suppose I'll have a terrible time getting a blue one for it."

"You won't if you go about it as a man would—as I would, for instance," said Mr. Dumkopf vigorously. "I would simply walk up to the proper official, briefly explain, and demand a blue thingummy in exchange."

"Oh, Aesop, will you exchange it for me?" cried Mrs. Dumkopf admiringly, and the next day Mr. Dumkopf found himself briefly stating the case to the proper official and demanding a blue one.

"H'm," said the proper official, with a glance that made Dumkopf feel like a pickpocket contemplating arson—"thingummies not exchangeable. H'm. When was it bought? Who bought it? Is this the one that was bought? Why not pink?"

"Why—er—I did, I mean, she did; I don't know. Because."

"Why wasn't it brought back before? Have you a middle name? What was the sales person's number? Were you born in this country?"

"Er—who, me? No. Yes. What?"

floundered Dumkopf.

"Why blue? Did you ever exchange a thingummy before? If so, what color? Was this spot on it? Was that? Were those? How much education have you had? Why not more?"

"Birdoot!" gasped Dumkopf, and, tying the pink thingummy in an inextricable knot around the official's neck, he bought a blue thingummy at the thingummy department.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs

A SUGGESTION

IF YOU would fill the passing day with cheer, spread far and wide the good news that you hear.

Upon your neighbor's virtues smiling dwell, and if some bit of gossip you must tell.

Let it be of some kindness he has done, or of some honor high that he has won.

And ere the day shall pass into the night, and the flying minutes all delight.

And when the sunset gleams out in the west, and you shall come into the vale of rest.

Faith, Hope and Cheer will be your comrades on the highways leading to the golden dawn.

Deer Facing Starvation

Out on the Arizona desert, that reaches from the colored cliffs of Utah to the Colorado river, circles the Grand canyon, and goes on indefinitely southward, there is a great plateau, higher than the rest of the country and covered with a mighty forest. The plateau is called the Kaibab plateau; the forest, the Kaibab forest.

On this plateau, in this forest, lives a herd of deer, the most magnificent in America. During the past year or so it has been reported that these deer have increased in such great numbers on the isolated plateau that they are virtually doomed to a death by starvation, having eaten everything palatable, says G. L. F. Exchange, Chicago from the plateau. It is pointed out, it is made impossible by the deer that surround it.

Need Book Covers

Old books whose bindings are shabby can be made very decorative by the addition of covers of hand-blocked papers in fascinating little designs. When each book is covered with a different pattern the effect is extreme.

All America Demands Comfort Without Waste; Beauty Without Extravagance; And Chrysler Six Results

The Chrysler Six meets the new American demand for comfort without waste, for highest quality without excessive cost, for exceptional beauty without extravagance. Women especially are enthusiastic about these Chrysler qualities.

The Chrysler Six actually rides more comfortably and solidly than many two-ton cars—due to scientifically distributed weight and a low center of gravity; the Chrysler-designed type of spring mounting which does away with side-sway; to full balloon tires and Watson stabilizers, the finest device of its type to eliminate the shock of road inequalities.

To the superiority of its unsurpassed performance results, the Chrysler Six joins a complete freedom from mechanical worry. An air-cleaner keeps all dust and road dirt out of the engine. The Purloftor filters the crankcase oil as the motor runs. Thermostatic heat control keeps the motor always at the most efficient working temperature. Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes insure a wide factor of safety.

FIRE DESTROYS UNIT OF BIG FERTILIZER FACTORY.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Ithaca, Sept. 25.—Word was received here by the G. L. F. Exchange that a fire Tuesday night wiped out part of the fertilizer factory of the Summers Fertilizer Company of Baltimore, Md. The G. L. F. Exchange, a cooperative association owned by 24,000 farmers of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, is a heavy stockholder in the Summers Company.

The fire destroyed only one unit of the big factory. The dock and acidulating units of the plant which are located on the harbor, across the street from the damaged building, were un-harmful. J. E. Totman, president of the Summers Company, stated that the loss is covered by insurance and that the company will be able to care for its business by increased operation of another plant owned by the company located at Colgate Creek, Baltimore. The cause of the fire has not been learned.

The G. L. F. Exchange, which has executive offices in this city, last year bought a large block of stock in the Summers Fertilizer Company, becoming by the purchase one of the principal owners. The stock purchase was made to enable the G. L. F. to supervise and control the quality of fertilizer bought for its farmers' shareholders in the three states it serves.

M. E. Balch of this city, general manager of the G. L. F. and N. F. West of Cortland, president of the Exchange, are directors of the Summers Company. W. L. Gay of New York City, manager of the G. L. F. fertilizer service and M. C. Burdette of Hilton, comptroller, are also members of the Summers Company board of directors.

It was stated that the G. L. F. office here today that the major shipment of fertilizer in G. L. F. territory has been made and it was not expected that farmers would be inconvenienced to any extent by the fire. Shipments not made will be handled at the Colgate Creek Plant.

The Summers factory, through the G. L. F., furnishes a big proportion of the fertilizer used on farms in New York State, southern New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

Reappropriates Taylor Property

Long Island Park Commission Makes Use of Funds Donated by August Heckscher for State Park on Long Island.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—The Long Island State Park Commission in the name of the state, with the approval of Governor Smith, has reappropriated the Taylor estate at East Islip, having set aside for this purpose funds recently donated by August Heckscher. The filing of new papers of entry and appropriation is due to the fact that the original proceeding was attacked by W. Kingsland Macy, Horace Havemeyer and other local millionaires interested in a nearby golf club, who had stepped in to prevent the state from establishing a park in their vicinity.

The original proceeding was attacked largely on the ground that although the people of the state had voted a bond issue for parks with special provision for Long Island by a million majority, the next legislature had not actually made the bond issue funds available. This issue is now being litigated.

Mr. Heckscher came forward recently and donated over two hundred and sixty thousand dollars so that there might be no possible obstacle in the way of the establishment of this park by the state for all the people. In making his gift Mr. Heckscher was in possession of all the facts relative to the controversy with Mr. Macy, Mr. Havemeyer and their friends. In fact, as soon as Mr. Heckscher's interest in this matter was known Mr. Macy made every effort to dissuade Mr. Heckscher from making the gift.

In a recent communication to the State Council of Parks, Mr. Heckscher further stated that in acquiring park lands for public use "special privilege must yield when it becomes arrogant or oppressive."

The history of the Taylor estate controversy is well known. The State Park authorities intend to retain possession of the Taylor property and are prepared to meet any action which may be taken by Mr. Macy, Mr. Havemeyer and their lawyers until the present ownership of this property by the state of New York is no longer in dispute.

Mr. Heckscher in discussing this matter with the state park authorities has expressed his desire to see this controversy through to the end.

LUXURIOUS CLOTHES ARE THE ORDER OF THE DAY—NOT TO FORGET THE EVENING.

With September well on its way, one has fairly well recovered from the newness of fall and winter innovations in the mode, particularly those devised for day-wear, so that in point of new interest it is the evening things that provide original ideas.

The prominence of elaborate styling has been repeated so often, both from the angles of our own fashions and those of the Paris couture, that it should be a foregone conclusion that the same character describes modes for evening—only, it might be said, with much more emphasis. For, with such agents as gorgeous lace metal cloths, rich velvets and brocades, sumptuous furs, together with the individual styling permissible in design for evening modes, it can be easily understood to what lengths these dance, dinner or theatre costumes can go.

Nor should color be omitted in the list of vital developments of the evening mode. The return to prestige of beaded embroideries, together with sparkles, achieving the brilliant effect, offers other evidence in the elaborate character of evening costumes.

It is an interesting paradox that a number of the frocks of this category, in their surrender to the jumper vogue, adopt the typically simple lines of the sports overblouse, but are rendered as ornate as you please, in such mediums as lace and brocaded velvets of the most costly type.

On the other hand, with the advent of back flares and other back treatments that imply trains, bustle traperies and bows, no equivocating the matter of types is attempted. The use of fur trimmings, in addition to embellishments of bead and other embroidery, stamps these frocks immediately as of important and formal bearing.

One indulges in a pun in discussing the evening wrap, for in saying that it tops the mode in expressing formal styling no exaggeration has been committed. In addition to the styles that may be either of metal-weave or of soft velvets of luscious appeal, this season will be memorable for the revival of effects cut and outline that will earn for garments such descriptions as "andromeda" or "regal."

Just as those terms of a bygone era like "opera cloak" and "maison" recall visions of a highly ornate, in the grand manner, so do new wraps, not dissimilar in form, make it apt to apply the old descriptions.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

A bill of more than general merit was presented at the Kingston Opera House Thursday night and will remain for the balance of the week. Opening with the cleverest wire act that ever appeared at the Opera House, Cecil & Van proved the best. Riley & Patger, two clever girls with a bouquet of harmony. Josie St. Clair, the classiest musical act seen here in a long while. Nerva & Stone, are real gloom chasers, and Power Brothers and Horlick, revue in class dancing and singing. The photoplay selected for the last half is "Don Dare Devil," a blue streak western, starring Jack Hoxie.

Renewed interest in the glories of ancient Egypt resulting from the discovery of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen are reflected in Cecil B. De Mille's "The Ten Commandments." Months before Cecil B. De Mille started work on "The Ten Commandments" he had Egyptologists do research work as to the costumes, accessories and buildings of that Biblical era which the first part of the picture portrays. Engineers built walls, sphinxes, pyramids and a city whose walls were 109 feet in height. In less than eight months a city was built which had taken the ancients as many centuries. When completed, it was used for only eighteen days. The modern story was written by Jeanie Mac Pherson. It shows that the commandments are as great a moral force today as they were five thousand years ago. A cast of five thousand people is headed by Rod La Rocque, Richard Dix, Leatrice Joy, Agnes Ayres, Nita Naldi, Theodore Roberts, James Neill, Edythe Chapman, Robert Edeson and Charles De Roche. "The Ten Commandments" will be shown at the Keeney Theater tonight and Saturday matinee and night for the last times. The original musical score is played by Jimmie Connors and his orchestra.

At the Auditorium tonight William Fox presents Edmund Lowe in "Champion of Lost Causes," a mystery romance with lives at stake.

Kennedy Handles Sanford Trucks

Kingston Becomes Distributing Center for Territory Between New York City Metropolitan District and Canadian Border—Connected With Automobile Business Over 20 Years.

An important transaction in automotive circles has been consummated whereby O. M. Kennedy, proprietor of the Central Garage, Broadway and St. James street, becomes the factory distributor of the Sanford Motor Truck Company of Syracuse for the territory north of the New York city metropolitan district and extending along the Hudson river section to the Canadian border. This is one of the largest automotive transactions which has taken place in this section and means that Kingston will become the distribution center for Sanford motor truck sales and service for this important territory. The deal was consummated between Mr. Kennedy and F. W. Wilkins, vice-president and general manager for the Sanford Truck Company, who has been in town for the past few days closing the deal.

Beside being sales distributor for the Sanford Truck Company in the allotted territory, Mr. Kennedy will also have a complete line of parts for the cars and will handle service for the Sanford product in this section. Mr. Kennedy will stock a complete line of parts for the product and hereafter parts for Sanford trucks will be handled for the territory through the local concern instead of from the factory at Syracuse. In addition to relieving the factory of this work it will hasten the service in the territory of Mr. Kennedy. Kingston, which is centrally located in the territory, has shipping facilities which will permit rapid handling of repair parts through the territory with the least possible delay to owners of Sanford products.

Cooperating with Mr. Kennedy will be the factory at Syracuse and C. F. Doty, direct eastern New York sales manager, who resides in this city. Mr. Doty will maintain offices at the Central Garage.

All dealer organizations now existing in the territory will be turned over to Mr. Kennedy and sales will hereafter be handled through this office for all agents in the territory. The total sales of new cars and parts for the territory will involve in the course of a year an estimated amount of from $200,000 to $500,000.

Mr. Kennedy will immediately stock parts to the amount of about $50,000 which will be shipped from the factory before the first of next month and will maintain a complete parts department which will supply owners and dealers throughout his territory. Dr. Doty will be associated with the Central Garage in promoting sales and service efficiency in the territory.

Mr. Wilkins stated that for some time the Sanford concern had searched the territory for a distributing point such as has now been found at Kingston and they feel themselves fortunate in having made connections here in view of the record and standing of Mr. Kennedy in the automotive field. Mr. Kennedy is proprietor of one of the oldest automobile establishments in the city, having been one of the first to engage in the business when the automobile was still in an experimental stage. For over twenty years Mr. Kennedy has been connected with the automobile business here and during that time has become widely known throughout the territory.

In taking over the distribution of the Sanford trucks in the Hudson Valley and north to the Canadian line Mr. Kennedy will have in his employ five or six experienced men doing territorial work in addition to the salesmen who will take care of the local sales. Mr. Kennedy will still maintain the local agency of the Sanford trucks and will act as local agent as well as acting as distributor of the product throughout the territory.

From time to time Mr. Kennedy will have at his salesrooms a complete line of the product of the Sanford Company which includes all kinds of motor trucks from the light speed delivery truck to the big seven and ten ton heavy duty trucks. The company also makes busses, fire apparatus and road building and contractors' equipment. The Sanford Company, with factory at Syracuse, was organized in 1910 and was incorporated in 1912. Since that time the company has never been reorganized or re-financed and has its product operating in all parts of the world. The line is complete for all purposes from the 3,000 pound six cylinder speed truck to the heavy duty, one to ten ton truck. All fields of transportation are covered by the line of the company.

Mr. Doty, as direct eastern factory branch representative, with offices in Kingston will continue to give advice to prospective truck purchasers or buyers of any of the products made by the Sanford Company.

"LOST WORLD" AT THE BIJOU THEATER ROSENDALE

Rip Van Winkle's famous beauty nap wasn't even a wink of sleep compared to the snooze that Old Dad Time treats himself to in "The Lost World," which comes to the Bijou Theater, Rosendale, Sunday evening. In this Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's story, produced by First National and Watterson R. Rothacker, Father Time breaks every sleeping record in all literature or screenature. He snores away for 10,000,000 years. In other words, in a certain spot in the wilds of South America lies remains stationary for 100,000 centuries.

A party of screen adventurers, including Bessie Love, Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone and Lloyd Hughes, discover this land that Time forgot. They find strange and fearsome prehistoric dinosaurs of the Reptilian Age still alive—looking for fresh meat.

Miss Love is almost caught by one. But Messrs. Stone, Beery and Hughes rescue her just in time, and it is on that rescue that the tense love theme of the picture hinges.

Film magazines herald this picture as one of the sensations of motion picture history. One magazine goes so far as to say "The greatest film yet made."

RECEIVING ENTRIES FOR RACES AT DRIVING PARK

The public opening of the riding and driving park on North Manor avenue, which will be held on Columbus Day, October 12, is going to be an event of interest to everyone. The public will be admitted free to the grounds and everyone is invited to attend. There will be something of interest to everyone. Plans are being formulated by the various committees and a complete program will be ready within a few days.

At a meeting of the committee on harness racing for the day, which was held Wednesday, it was decided to hold at least three races. The committee, of which Fred J. Roosa of 387 Albany avenue is chairman, will be pleased to receive entries for the races. Anyone having a horse to enter in the harness races should get in touch with Mr. Roosa.

Other events are being planned and there will be something going on during the entire afternoon. Running races, a horse show and rodeo as well as a bicycle race have been arranged.

Fire Destroyed New York Garage

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 25.—Punctuated by a series of one hundred explosions, as flames reached a corresponding number of gasoline tanks, an early morning fire today destroyed the Madison Avenue Bridge Garage, at Madison avenue and 126th street. One hundred families in adjoining apartments were routed to the streets in a near-freezing temperature as firemen fought the blaze. One hundred private cars, taxicabs and motor trucks were destroyed or damaged by the flames. The garage itself was a total loss, the roof having crashed in and the walls collapsed.

Garage employees made frantic efforts to drive the cars into the street, but were cut off from one section of the garage by the flames. Traffic on upper Madison avenue was tied up by the blaze, and all passage over the Harlem river bridge was suspended.

Reserves were called out to keep spectators out of the danger zone. The exploding gasoline menaced the hundreds of on-lookers and made the fire-fighting extremely hazardous. Damage is said to be more than $150,000.

Experts Would Make Cemetery Like Park

"A remarkable change is appearing in the cemeteries and on the memorial stones of America as a result of the efforts of memorial dealers to incorporate art in design," says Prof. W. H. Varnum of the department of applied arts in the University of Wisconsin.

"We are trying to get away from the lack of beauty of the older cemetery monuments," says Professor Varnum, "by eliminating the unnatural looking granite blocks with heavy bases. Monument experts are trying to make cemeteries more like parks with memorials that harmonize with nature."

"Memorials in the future will be personalized. Line rather than elaborate floral design will characterize the deceased person. A successful scientist's memorial, for example, should be a slim obelisk, showing the successful termination of a strong life that has led in one direction."

Symbolic lines also would suggest the youth rather than an ornamental design which "slops over" in taste and sentiment. The youth's memorial would likely be tapered but not pointed, so as to suggest an abrupt ending of a young life. It would be of lighter material and with a small base.

A mausoleum, according to Professor Varnum, should be simple in line and set apart from the surrounding memorials so as to give it an adequate setting. The overuse of elaborate floral design has been due, in part, he points out, to the process of sand-blasting for enrichment of the plain stone. The process has been cheap and has therefore been used to excess. The former demand for huge blocks of granite has been due, in part, to the effort of dealers to give as much for the money as possible.

In many cemeteries now the authorities are formulating and enforcing regulations as to the design and size of memorials and causing their height to correspond to the immediate surrounding topography.

Mrs. Coolidge Refuses to Autograph American Flag

Swampscott, Mass.—Mrs. Coolidge does not intend to become a party to anything she interprets as misuse of the American flag.

The story came from White Court that a group of middle-western women sent a quilt in which a large flag was embroidered, and asked her to autograph it so it could be sold at auction. She did not consider a befitting appropriate place for the emblem and returned it without her signature. Finally, when the women sent her a plain white quilt she at fixed her signature.

Ireland and Egypt

The term "Dominion" is applied generally to the self-governing British possessions beyond the seas, although the word does not in all cases form part of their names. In the case of Canada the word is part of the name, but such is not the case, for instance, of the Union of South Africa, or the Commonwealth of Australia, nor is it the case of the Irish Free State, and yet they may all be referred to as dominions. On November 18, 1914, a British protectorate was declared over Egypt, and the khedive assumed the title of sultan. In March, 1922, Egypt was declared to be an independent kingdom.

Agricultural Pests

Today We Celebrate

RUSSIAN RAILWAYS.

The first railway in Russia was opened 75 years ago today. September 25, 1850, and was constructed by American engineers. Twenty-five years later Russia had less than a thousand miles of rail lines. In the 70's a great era of construction commenced and by 1885, the total mileage reached 17,000, and today Russia has a greater railway mileage than any other country of Europe except Germany, and it is of course well known that many of the German States railways were constructed not for passenger or freight, but for military reasons.

MARGARET MORE

Was the daughter of Sir Thomas More, Lord Chancellor of Henry Eighth—the bigamous monarch. At the time of the Reformation and the king's divorce and subsequent marriage with Anne Boleyn, Henry demanded that Moreman, ardent Catholic, should give his assent to the marriage, which Sir Thomas refused on principle and law. He was committed to the Tower and beheaded and his head stuck upon a pike and exhibited on London Bridge. Margaret, his beloved daughter, undaunted by fear or danger, had a trusty servant row her at night to the bridge. She kept the boat steady in the current while the servant climbed to the pier, loosed the precious head of her father and dropped it into the lap of his devoted daughter. She buried the head in the garden of the house in Chelsea, and with no realization of the heroism of her act, she became the mainstay of the afflicted family.

FIRST NEWSPAPER.

The first newspaper published in North America was Publick Occurrences, which issued its first and only number 235 years ago today, September 25, 1690. The publisher, Benjamin Harris, proposed to get it out monthly, but the authorities came down on the project "like a ton of brick," and Harris had to abandon the scheme. The paper was printed on three pages of a folded sheet, size 7x11 inches each page. It was "Printed by H. Pierce, for Benjamin Harris, at the London Coffee-House" in Boston.

The authorities alleged that it contained "Reflections of a very high nature" (?) and within 24 hours of the appearance of the printer edition, the poor editor and publisher was solemnly warned that a repetition of the "offence" would merit severe punishment.

"That Memorable Occurrence of Divine Providence may not be neglected or forgotten, as they too often are," and "that people everywhere may better understand the circumstances of Publick Affairs both abroad and at home," Harris printed his journal, and it was a pity that he should have been thwarted in his desire that "the country shall be furnished once a month with an account of such considerable things as have arrived into our notice."

BANDITS FAIL TO STEAL IMITATION DIAMONDS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 25.—A necklace of imitation diamonds, which, if the stones were genuine would be worth about $50,000, was today believed to have been the objective of four gunmen who attempted to hold up Miss Nora Bayes, vaudeville actress, as she alighted from her limousine in front of her home late last night. Two shots were fired by the bandits. One struck John Carlow, the chauffeur, in the left side. At the Knickerbocker Hospital today his condition was reported as not serious.

Miss Bayes had just returned from the uptown theater where she was playing. The bandits evidently were waiting for her. Two of them jumped on to the running board of her car, while two remained in their own automobile parked just down the street.

As one reached for the paste diamonds, Carlow, who had alighted and opened the door for Miss Bayes, lunged for him. The robber fired and Carlow fell. The outcry following the shots evidently frightened the gunmen, who jumped to their own machine and sped away.

Miss Bayes, it was learned, possesses a genuine diamond necklace worth $50,000 and it is believed the robbers thought she was wearing that one last night. Had they made with the necklace she wore, however, their plunder would have been worth only a small sum.

Second Forum Session Thursday

Session number two of the Forum of Fundamentals was held Thursday evening at the high school. The meeting convened promptly at 8 o'clock. The subject of session number two was "The Psychology of Human Relationships."

Mr. Sheldon gave four diagrams illustrating the eight effects essential for the greeting and keeping of mental agreement in all human relationships. He reasoned from the viewpoint that the successful individual in any human relationship consciously or unconsciously creates seven mental effects if the mind of the party of the second part meets his own.

If, after the minds meet, relationships continue an eighth effect is essential. Many have succeeded through wholly unconscious creation of the eight effects, but millions have failed by saying and doing things which create the opposite of the eight essential constructive effects.

The seven constructive effects essential for the getting of mental agreement according to the Psychology of Human Relationships as taught by Mr. Sheldon are as follows: confidence, favorable attention, interest, appreciation of value, desire to possess, decision to possess and action or act of possession. The eighth, which is essential for the keeping of mental agreement, is satisfaction.

The opposite of confidence is distrust. The opposite of favorable attention is unfavorable attention. The opposite of interest in indifference. The opposite of appreciation of value is depreciation. The opposite of desire to possess is disgust. The opposite of decision to possess is indecision. The opposite of action is inactivity while the opposite of satisfaction is dissatisfaction.

Mr. Sheldon made plain that the law in the case is as follows: Favorable attention sustained by confidence and intensified changes to interest. Interest properly sustained changes to appreciation of value. Appreciation of value properly sustained and intensified changes to desire for possession. Desire for possession made intensive enough changes to decision to possess. Decision to possess, if backed by sufficient desire, changes to act of possession whereupon mind meets mind.

He made plain that satisfaction, which cements and holds the other seven effects together, can only be created through service of the right quality, the right quantity and the right mode of conduct.

The entire audience gave undivided attention to the subject for an hour and a half during which the session lasted.

On Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. Sheldon met the teachers of Kingston who teach at night school and who were obliged to Miss Tuesday night's session. The near future he will meet the Kiwanis Club members who were obliged to be absent last Thursday on account of the Kiwanis convention at Albany.

Mr. Sheldon has already opened the campaign in Newburgh. His services have already been engaged for talks before several of the leading industries of Newburgh.

Movie Titles.

If Norma Talmadge is "The Only Woman" is she "The Dangerous Flirt?"

Do "The Daughters of the Night" cause "Discontented Husbands?"

Does "The Age of Innocence" furnish "Cheap Kisses?"

Can "The Covered Wagon" go down "The Narrow Street?"

Does "The Midnight Express" go to "Forbidden Paradise?"

Does "The Iron Horse" stop at "The Mine With the Iron Door?"

Do "The Thundering Herd" have "Tongues of Flame?"

Does "The Silent Accuser" know "The Truth About Women?"

Do "Single Wives" spend "Dangerous Money?"

Was "The Navigator" "Laughing at Danger?"

Does "The Painted Lady" deal in "Worldly Goods?"

Perfecting a civilization is just a slow business of teaching husbands how to act before company.

It isn't a stable government just because its statesmen insist on stability.

The waiter was taking the order of a pretty young lady who was accompanied by a ferocious, red-headed middle-aged man. "And how about the lobster?" the waiter inquired.

"Oh, he can order whatever he likes," came the startling reply.

"But me any more?"

The dear girl cried in great alarm. "He doesn't love me any more, because, you see, he broke his arm."

We don't like to be superstitious, but we are inclined to believe that if a man fell out of the 13th story window of a building on a cloudy Friday that happened to be the 13th day of the month, he might, in consequence, hurt himself rather badly.

"Yes, ma'am," said Reginald. "Water and a baby."

Royal Princess a Bride

PRINCE PHILIP OF HESSE, BRIDE

Princess Mafalda, second oldest daughter of King Victor Emanuel of Italy, became the bride of Prince Philip of Hesse, in simple ceremonies befitting a love match, at Raccogni. There were two ceremonies, the religious by the priest who baptized the bride as a baby, the other, the civil one, by Premier Mussolini.

WALDEN MAN-SUCCESS TO SHOCK OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

The result of injuries he sustained when the automobile he was driving struck a telephone pole on the Newburgh-Montgomery road, Charles Hargis of Walden, a retired Montgomery farmer, 55 years old, died in St. Luke's Hospital, at Newburgh, Wednesday night. Death is said to have resulted from a shock to the nervous system which affected the heart. He had sustained the fracture of several ribs and the fracture of his left elbow, but was recovering under the care of Dr. E. C. Thompson when the heart ailment proved fatal.

Mr. Hargis, with Mrs. Belle Jansen, was driving along the turnpike one mile from Montgomery on Friday, September 11, when a rear tire of the car burst. The damage to the wheel caused Mr. Hargis to lose control, and the vehicle left the road and struck a telephone pole. Deputy Sheriff J. J. Dillon of the town of Newburgh who was passing the scene took the injured to St. Luke's Hospital. Mrs. Jansen who was cut and bruised, is still a patient there.

Mr. Hargis was a native of Dallas, Texas. He is survived by one son, Charles Sylvester Hargis. The body has been taken to Walden for interment.

Thief Betray Man as Boss Planned Reward

New York.—On the eve of retiring, and giving his fur business into the hands of employees, Max Cohen, president of M. Cohen & Brothers, furriers, discovered that the man who was to take over control of the business, John Dingfelder, had been robbing him for five years. The theft had so weakened the company, Cohen said, that he had to postpone his retirement indefinitely.

Dingfelder had worked for him 30 years, he said, starting at $4 a week and slowly increasing his salary until it attained $9,000 annually plus bonuses. Cohen told his story in General Sessions court, where Dingfelder was arraigned for robbery and was sentenced to from six months to three years in the penitentiary. Max Ackerman, a fellow employee, arraigned as Dingfelder's accomplice, received a similar sentence.

VETERAN OPERATED ON FORTY TIMES

Surgeons Restore Sight and Are Rebuilding Body.

New York.—Frank Hasselberger was preparing the other day for his forty-first operation in the last seven years. Army surgeons, determined to put Hasselberger together again so that he looks and feels as he did before he was torn almost to pieces in France seven years ago, will operate on him again at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Hasselberger enlisted in the regular army and was one of the first men sent to France. On September 23, 1918, the section of trench in which he was stationed was bombed by German airplanes and he was taken to a first aid station half blinded and apparently dead. There was a piece of steel in almost every square inch of his body.

The Walter Reed hospital surgeons decided to reconstruct what was left of Hasselberger's body. They restored his sight completely and then devoted themselves to skin grafting operations and plastic surgery on his body. Forty operations over a period of seven years were performed on all parts of his body.

Hasselberger, while unable to move about freely, sees perfectly and he has hope.

"After a couple of dozen more operations," he said, "they figure they'll be able to start work in earnest on me."

Mary Bought Everything, Then Fiance Left Town

Milwaukee.—A broken-hearted woman came to the police station. With difficulty she choked back the tears so that she might make a missing report. Mingled with the sadness at the loss of her fiancé was the chagrin of a woman scorned.

The broken-hearted woman is Mary Oetina, a widow. She is twenty-five and the mother of two boys, Frank, eight, and William, three.

The missing man is Anton Bostyack. He is twenty-three.

Mary and Anton were to have been married this week. Mary got the marriage license two weeks ago. She had rented a flat at 715 Sixth avenue and furnished it with her own money. She had purchased an engagement and wedding ring.

Then he disappeared leaving a note telling her he'd rather cut off his right arm than marry her.

Man Who Stole Elephants Freed After Two Years

McAlester, Okla.—"Elephant Red" Kola, believed to be the only man in the United States who ever served time for stealing a herd of elephants, was released from the state penitentiary here Saturday when his two-year term expired.

The circus with which Kola traveled experienced financial difficulties. The partners agreed to separate and each took a share of the animals and equipment. Kola went with one of them and a short time later decided to steal back the elephants. They were driven to a point 15 miles away from where they were quarantined when officers arrested Kola and returned the animals.

Dog to Die for Chewing U. S. Flags Over Graves

Stanford, Conn.—Arnold Kurth, dog warden, has in his kennel a mongrel found guilty of repeated attacks on the American flag. The dog was caught as a result of complaints that flags over the graves of soldiers and sailors in Woodland cemetery had been chewed to rags.

Kurth passed several days watching at the cemetery and caught the mongrel after it had chewed a flag. The animal will be killed.

Man Six Fingers

Richmond, Va.—William A. Toler, Northern expert of the local police department, was confronted recently with the problem of finger printing William Bush, a negro with six fingers on each hand, who was arrested on a charge of robbing a local jewelry store where he was porter. Mr. Toler said no method has been worked out for such cases.

English Rail Sections

When passenger travel is heavy on English railways and it becomes necessary to run trains in two sections, the first train carries at its rear a sign bearing the letters "A. P. P." meaning "Another portion follows."

CHARGES CHARGE AND REDUCES SENTENCE

John Nalcus and Harry Stone, who were sentenced to the Albany Penitentiary for 60 days, and John Corey and William Williams, who were sentenced to 60 days in the Ulster county jail by Judge Webber at Flatbush, town of Ulster, Wednesday evening, on an unlawful entry charge, were rearraigned Thursday night before Judge Webber. The charge was changed to violation of the tramp act and each received a sentence of 30 days in the Ulster county jail.

What Really Happened

"My last boy, Bearcat, took a notion yesterday to ride the yearling calf backwards," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "He hopped on the calf gave a better and tore up the road right toward the church. It was Sunday and the door was open, and four, five dogs were sleeping around the entrance. What do you reckon happened?"

"Why—dad-burn it!—anybody could tell that. The calf with the boy on his back and the dogs grabbing at every corner burst right into the church, ran up the aisle and scrambled up into the pews."

"That's the way it happened!"

Spanish Plan Drive to Ajdir

By Telegram to The Freeman
Madrid, Sept. 25.—Trenches apared and picks replaced rifles and bayonets today along the Alhucemas front in Morocco, as the Spanish strengthened their recently won positions in preparation for a brief rest in the drive toward Ajdir.

General Primo De Rivera, head of the Spanish forces, who watched the advance from the deck of the warship Alfonso XIII, will rest a day or two in Tetuan before returning to lead his men over the four miles of difficult terrain lying between their present positions and the walled stronghold of Abd-el Krim.

Meantime French and Spanish headquarters in Morocco have been joined by direct telephone line. Primo overseeing its completion at Ceuta, and Marshall Pavia and his French troops will slice in with the other half of the scissors movement when the Spanish drive is resumed.

The RIFANS have been demoralized by the success of the Spanish at Alhucemas Bay, according to today's official communiqué.

OVER SEVEN MILLIONS LEFT TO MRS. VANDERBILT

By Telegram to The Freeman
Portsmouth, R. I., Sept. 25.—Twenty year old Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, widow of Reginald C. Vanderbilt who died September 4 is one of the richest young widows in the country, it was said today following publication of Vanderbilt's will. Vanderbilt left $5,000,000 in trust for his two children, and bequeathed the balance of his estate, more than $7,000,000 to his widow. Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, daughter of Vanderbilt by his first marriage, will share equally in the $5,000,000 bequest with Gloria, daughter born to his second wife in 1924.

DRUM CORPS OF STATE TO MEET IN NEWBURGH

The annual convention of the New York State Fifers and Drummers Association will be held in Newburgh on Saturday under the auspices of the W. E. Ray Memorial Corps of that city. There will be a big parade in the afternoon followed by prize drills and contests. Friday evening a dance is planned to be held in Columbus Hall and on Saturday night the convention ball will be held in the state armory.

FREAK AUTOMOBILE OF AEROPLANE PARTS

This freak automobile is designed and owned by a United States army man stationed at Mitchell field, Long Island. It is built entirely of airplane parts and all driving and manipulation of gears is done from the steering wheel.

POLICE SUGGEST NEW ROAD RULES

Recommendations Made for Control of Traffic in Leading Cities.

The conference of international police chiefs, which included delegates from all of the leading cities of the world, before adjourning in New York city unanimously adopted the following recommendations for the control of automobile traffic:

All cars must have left-hand drive.

The use of glaring headlights should be forbidden.

Take Away Licenses

Licenses of individuals found unfit should be taken away.

Brakes and steering gear of all vehicles must be tested monthly.

The size, shape and color combinations of plates should be standardized.

Physical, mental and moral tests should be imposed on all drivers.

No automobile shall be more than 26 feet long, 8 feet wide and 12 feet high.

The knowledge and fitness of all drivers must be thoroughly tested periodically.

Brakes must be so adjusted that a car making 20 miles an hour can stop within 40 feet.

Fingerprints of drivers should be attached to all licenses and deposited with state bureaus.

Speed should be limited to 25 miles per hour. Villages should not be permitted to restrict speed laws to less than 20 miles an hour.

The following hand signals should be made universal: Arm extended up for right turn; arm extended horizontally for left turn; arm down to signal intention to stop.

Punish Reckless Drivers.

Jail sentences should be given for reckless driving, terms being graduated in accordance with the degree of recklessness shown, such as two years for driving while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs.

The transfer of property titles for automobiles should be regulated by law, so that genuine owners may prove their ownership, so that traffic in stolen automobiles can be discouraged by the impossibility of delivering title.

Likening of Auto Tire to Human Body Helps

The likening of a pneumatic tire to a human body is one of the favorite topics found in manuals circulated by tire manufacturers for the purpose of helping the motorist secure all the mileage that has been built into the tire.

The carcass of the tire corresponds to the bones and muscles of our bodies. The outer rubber covering (tread and side cushions) protect the tire as the skin protects our bodies.

Cuts in this rubber must be repaired to prevent infection. Inflated pressure to a tire is what food is to our bodies.

There is another similarity, however, that has not been described—the tire's need of exercise. It is a fact, that a spare tire resists natural aging much better if it is put into service for a day every month.

The reason for this is obscure, but is probably due to what physicists call "molecular rearrangement" in the rubber portions of the tire caused by flexing.

Whatever the cause of the deterioration, it is a fact that a spare carried month after month without being "exercised" occasionally does not retain its wearing qualities as well as one that gets an occasional day's use.

Side Sway Is Given as Cause for Rim Cutting

Motorists are often puzzled at the reason for their tires rim-cutting. Especially are they surprised at this when the rims are in good condition.

Ordinarily underinflation is held solely to blame. But there is an important contributing cause—side sway.

Sudden turning of the car throws an abnormal strain on the side walls of the tires. Occasionally this side sway is sufficient to rupture the fabric. In the majority of cases, the trouble is set off close to the head or edge of the tire, where the fabric strands are anchored.

Numerous Trivials Make an Automobile Expensive

If your axle is even slightly out of true it will soon wear out your tires by the continual grinding action wearing to the fabric in a very short time. If you have had an accident of any kind it will pay you to have your wheels examined, to see if they are true.

Often the brakes are not properly adjusted and one wheel stops the entire load. If this is the case, the tire which is receiving the greatest strain will soon be worn to the fabric. One or two violent applications of the brakes on rough ground will take several miles from the service of your tires. See that the brakes are properly adjusted so as to equally distribute the strain on the tires and avoid sudden stops and skidding around corners.

When on the road, never use your brake unless absolutely necessary. The throttle is made to control the engine.

There are many drivers who never change their gasoline feed in going down hills, but depend upon the brake altogether. Such a procedure is the worst of folly.

Electric Automobile Is of Most Unique Design

Photo shows Col. H. R. Green, son of Betty Green, standing beside his new electric automobile. It is one of the largest electric ever built and was specially designed to afford a maximum of comfort for the Colonel. The doors are six feet high and the body hung extremely low for ease in riding.

A folding desk is provided and a drop light as well. The car can make 20 miles an hour and run for 75 miles without recharging. It can seat five people comfortably.

Leakage of Grease Onto Brake Drums Is Harmful

Another condition that is the result of warm weather is the leakage of grease from rear axle interiors and the attendant excessive deposits of that material on the brake drums, especially on the inner periphery against which the emergency or internal brake bands act. This reduces braking efficiency to a considerable degree and wherever such deposits are found, they should be removed by cleaning the parts thoroughly with gasoline, even if this should necessitate removing the wheels to gain access to the brake drum interior. The leakage is usually caused by the turning out of the grease due to high operating temperatures in the axle interior.—Scientific American.

Old Emery Cloth Cleans Brass Parts of the Car

Some of the brasswork of the car because of its position and the work it has to perform, is apt to get into a rough state that makes it difficult to keep clean. This applies to the brass strip edging the running-boards and the foot-plates on the door sills. It is difficult to clean these with liquid brass polish, which has the characteristic of staining the surrounding territory. Including the rubber foot board covering. It is better to top being the liquid brass and to polish the brass with the finest grade of emery cloth. A piece of this cloth that has been used somewhat elsewhere, and so has lost some of its cut, is best for this work.

Bottles Made History

Historians disagree on the list of bottles that have gained the distinction of a name but two have been mentioned by common consent from American history. These are the bottles of the American over Europe at Saratoga and the bottles of the American over Europe at Saratoga.

Army and Navy Attack Mitchell

Scalp of Colonel Mitchell is sought by Army and Navy—Hodgers Advocates Air Board and Upsets Navy's Case.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Sept. 25.—The army and navy are out to "scalp" Colonel William Mitchell, the man who stirred up the present air row.

The higher ranking officers of both departments want not only to drive him out of the army but to discredit him for his sensational charges against the administration of the air arms.

This became increasingly evident here today when it was reliably learned that the navy would join the army in a concerted attack upon Mitchell when he appears before the president's aviation inquiry board next week.

An echo of the plans being laid by military chiefs against Mitchell has reached board members. Cognizance was taken of it by Dwight W. Morrow, chairman, who announced that the board would refuse to listen to "a controversy over personalities."

"The board is not an arena to air personal controversies," Morrow curtly declared.

A full report on Mitchell has been laid before high naval authorities. They are guarding it closely. That record, however, will be presented later to the president's board. With it, his adversaries hope to "discredit" the flying colonel in the eyes of the public.

The navy's case, however, was somewhat upset today by the frank advocacy of Commander John Rodgers, in charge of the PN-9, No. 1, Honolulu flight for an air board. That was overlooked for by naval chiefs, particularly Secretary of Navy Wilbur, who appointed Rodgers assistant chief of the bureau of aeronautics. There was no disguising the fact in naval circles that Rodgers had spoken "out of turn" uncensored by the navy's program.

LAY PROPERTY SOLD AT FORECLOSURE SALE.

Chris J. Flanagan, as referee in the mortgage foreclosure action brought by Charles Andres, Jr., plaintiff, against Agnes Lay, Vernon Kelder, as trustee, in bankruptcy of Jacob A. Lay, bankrupt; Jacob Forst Packing Company and Jacob A. Lay, sold several parcels of land on Hasbrouck avenue and Pierpont street at auction at the court house today. The property was struck off to Henry Forst for $9,600. Brinnier & Cahfield were attorneys for plaintiff; Frederick Stephan, Jr., attorney for the Jacob Forst Packing Company; Henry Klein, attorney for Jacob A. Lay and Agnes Lay, and Newton H. Fessenden, attorney for Vernon Kelder, as trustee. Included in the sale were two parcels of land on Pierpont street and two parcels on Hasbrouck avenue.

ORGANIZATION TO KEEP BRITISH TRAINS MOVING

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Sept. 25.—Britain's dukes and lords are preparing to work with their hands to meet a threatened national crisis.

A volunteer organization, aimed to supply the necessities of life in the event of a coal strike followed by some of England's leading men and it is reported that Lord Harding of Penhurst and Lord Jellicoe of Jutland fame, are at the head of the organization. Many society folk have joined the organization, it is said, and if a general strike comes they will man railroad trains and load coal and perform all sorts of manual tasks in order that the nation may not be paralyzed.

CRITICALLY INJURED WHEN TRAIN CRASHES INTO TRUCK.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 25.—One man was critically injured and thousands of New York bound commuters were delayed more than half an hour today when a Staten Island Rapid Transit train, bound from Totterville to St. George, crashed into a heavy motor truck in Stapleton.

William Bigby of Stapleton, driver of the truck, sustained a concussion of the brain and internal injuries. More than a hundred passengers in the train were thrown from their seats.

ALIENISTS WILL EXAMINE TEACHER IDOL OF BABY

By Telegram to The Freeman. Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 25.—While Alexander Milton Bittner, 41-year old college graduate and school teacher whose startling offer of marriage or purchase of six year old Mary Beeher caused her parents to ask the advice of the authorities, was at the Schuylkill county hospital for insane and nervous cases, there to be observed by alienists for traits of insanity, the charming idol of the child lover sat in a lonely corner of her father's home at Port Clinton today and wondered why they had taken him away.

"Of course I love him," the little girl said today. "He was awful nice and kind. He played with me—daddy never had time—and he bought me candy and toys and things I like. I want to know why he's gone. Was I bad to him, mother?"

"There has never been anything wrong in the man's liking for my girl," said Mrs. Beeher, puzzled as any with the strange case. "He was more like an affectionate father to Mary. But I am a mother and I am afraid. Maybe he is insane. Maybe there's something wrong with his mind. I couldn't stand the worry. I had to get him away from her."

McKECHNIE SINGS IN METHODIST CHURCH CHOIR

By Telegram to The Freeman. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 25.—Out in Wilkesburg, suburb of this city, and home of "Bill" McKechnie, manager of the pennant-winning Pirates and a singer in the choir at the Methodist Episcopal Church, enthusiasm is running high for a world series victory.

Those in charge said today it seemed that the whole town of Wilkesburg applied for seats to see McKechnie, their hero, lead the Pirates' charge against Washington, and, of course Mrs. "Bill" Little Billie and the two younger McKechnie children see each game.

Everywhere they are talking about "Bill." It remained for the Rev. E. R. Knight, pastor of McKechnie's church, to express what seems to be the opinion of everybody: "Bill McKechnie is one of the finest men in our congregation. He is active in church affairs and a member of the choir. He is the type of man fit to lead."

NO "RECEPTION" FOR IRISH FREE STATE OFFICIALS

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Sept. 25.—Ready to prevent any repetition of the attack on General Richard Mulcahy last week one hundred armed policemen and a dozen detectives met the Irish President Harding when it docked at Hoboken today and before a large crowd waiting at the dock were aware of the move, had whisked three high officials of the Irish Free State away to New York.

The three who came here to attend the Inter-Parliamentary Union Conference in Washington, are Patrick McGilligan, minister of industry and commerce of the Irish Free State, the Hon. Gordon Campbell, secretary of the department of industry and commerce and the Hon. Smith-Gordon, president of the Land National Bank of Ireland, which handles the funds of the Free State. McGilligan is a delegate to the Washington conference.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 25.—The stock market underwent a complete reversal of form today. Most of the stocks which were pounded down to lower price levels in the last two sessions regained all of their losses and in many cases hung up new high price records for the year.

Chesapeake and Ohio's advance to 111½, the highest price in the 47 years' history of that company, was easily the feature of the railroad list, though New York Central rose 1½ points in continuation of its new forward movement.

Chrysler took the lead in the motor stocks and sold up about 7½ points to a new high at 169. Fleischmann rose to $22, but declined five points on announcement that the new stock, to be issued three-for-one, will carry only an initial $2 dividend. Detroit Edison rose about 10 points in the leadership of the public utility stocks, with Columbia and Consolidated Gas also participating in the movement. At 236 American Can showed a rebound of nearly eight points from Thursday's low level, while General Electric sold up six points and Mack Trucks six.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent, but has moved up to 4½ in the fourth hour. Time money rates were firmer.

Mike Laughs at Death Sentence

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 25.—When the foreman of the jury that tried Mike Kosmoski for the murder of pretty nineteen year old Mildred Durkee of Hornell reported a verdict of guilty this morning, carrying with it death in the electric chair, Mike arose and looking squarely at Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Brown, laughed out loud.

"I am glad," said Kosmoski. "Death cannot come too quickly. Take me away." Then he burst into another fit of laughter.

"I want to die," repeated Mike. "I am sick and tired of living. I believe I am in the hands of God." Kosmoski shot and killed Mildred Durkee, July 17 as he drove her through the downtown section as the result of a quarrel in which the girl is said to have told Mike she did not love him, but preferred his rival, a married man. He drove the body around in the automobile until dark. Then he hid it in the woods.

Mother and Baby Burned to Death

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 25.—A mother and infant daughter were burned to death here today when the woman poured kerosene on a blaze to accelerate the fire. The resultant explosion enveloped Mrs. Hilda Legault, 28, in a mass of flames and set fire to the small apartment in which the family lived. Tiny Lauretta Legault, aged two and a half, succumbed to burns when the rapidly spreading flames engulfed her crib. The father had gone to work and an older daughter was attending school. Firemen found the charred body of the infant amid the burned wreckage of the crib in the bedroom of the home.

Six Killed in Battle

Over Ancient Statue
London.—A fight among Mesopotamian Arabs, which ended in the death of six, figures in the history of a valuable statue which has been brought to London by a Bagdad merchant.

The statue is a soap-stone portrait figure of Gudea, a Babylonian ruler of 4225 years ago. It is 18 inches high, and is in excellent condition. It is said to be worth from $40,000 to $60,000. Arabs who unearthed the statue at once realized its great value, quarreled over its possession, and fought so bitterly that six were killed. It is thought by experts to be the finest work of its period yet discovered.

Cow Rout Vicious Mule

Merced, Texas.—E. W. Sprague, a farmer who lives near this place, owns a life to a fighting cow. A vicious mule kicked and bit Sprague as he was leading the animal to water and it is believed would have killed the farmer had not a Shorthorn cow come to the rescue. Actuated by a desire to get into the fight "for the pure fun of it" or by a desire to do its owner service, the cow charged the mule and put him to rout.

Doings at the High School

Tennis Team Goes To St. Stephen's Saturday.—Track and Basketball Under Way.—Football Squad Plays Alumni Tomorrow.

After several tryouts a tennis team has been chosen to represent Kingston High School at the sectional meet to be held Saturday at St. Stephen's College. Erwin will enter the singles in the meet and Baylor and Fowler will play in the doubles. If the local trio is successful at St. Stephen's they will be entitled to enter the finals at Hamilton College on the following Saturday.

Track Team Produces.

Under the leadership of John Scanlin, who took the school honors in the spring meets at Poughkeepsie and Cornwall, a cross country squad has started practice in preparation for the state meet to be held at Goshen in a few weeks. Each school may enter from five to ten men in the meet and the school team which emerges winner in

Sir Hari's Soul Was "Purified"

Escapades of "Mister A" in Europe
Were Known to Old Maharajah—
Prince Was Restored to Good Standing After Performing Prescribed Penances.

Copyright, 1925, by International News Service.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 25.—From the center of the spotlight in Great Britain's most notorious blackmail case to the gem-studded throne of the Maharajah of Kashmir and Jammu has been a path of humiliation and shame for Sir Hari Singh.

The humbling ceremonies undergone by the handsome young prince to regain the favor of his aged uncle and retain the right of succession, was told by an Indian priest, an acquaintance of the Sir Hari and a recent arrival in London, in an exclusive interview with International News Service today.

Sir Hari succeeded to the throne, the rule of 3,000,000 people and an annual income of $5,000,000 at the death of the old Maharajah, his uncle, yesterday. His darkly handsome features were already known to newspaper readers the world over as those of the victim of a $1,500,000 blackmail plot in the "Mister A" case.

Unknown to Sir Hari, the Indian priest said, the intimate details of his escapades in Europe reached the old Maharajah, Sir Pratap Singh, before the young prince returned to India in 1920.

That was shortly after Sir Hari had been surprised in a Paris hotel with Mrs. Maude Robinson, pretty wife of a retired London bookmaker, but long before his adventures with her had been aired in court.

Sir Hari was surprised and chagrined when he reached the royal palace at Srinagar to find that his uncle refused to receive him. Furthermore he was told if he wanted to remain in the good graces of the Maharajah he would have to "purify his soul" by performing the penances prescribed for those guilty of major infractions of the rigid rules governing the "ekshatriya" or warrior caste, of which he was a member.

Sir Hari philosophically agreed to perform the necessary acts, which included:

Shaving his moustache, a sign either of mourning or shame, in this case shame.

Making sacrificial offerings on the sacred fire, which his princely hands must aid in kindling by the laborious means of rubbing sticks of wood together.

His miniature, waxed, black moustache disappeared. On the altar he placed an offering of rice and melted butter and worked to strike a blaze while Indian priests chanted hymns of the sinner come to penance.

The gods are appeased. The princeling was absolved. The old Maharajah, then past three score and ten, received his nephew with open arms and restored him to good standing as the heir apparent.

Giant Salt-Cellar

The Palestine government proposes to erect a plant for the recovery of 30 odd billion tons of salt from the Dead sea—a giant salt-cellar of apparently unlimited capacity—and very soon huge chemical factories and warehouses will be established round the lake, and the peace and quiet of centuries will give place to the ceaseless whirl of wheels.

It is remarkable that one of the most desolate spots in the world should suddenly acquire such tremendous economic importance. Of all the billion tons of salt in the Dead sea, only about ten tons is common salt. The remainder consists of salts of potassium and magnesium, an abundance of which will make Palestine the richest potash country in the world.

In appearance this strange sea challenges the Mediterranean with its clarity and blueness, but so deadly still are its waters that they have earned it its gruesome name.

Finding New Power

Although their progress is slow and unspectacular, scientists are making dogged attempts to discover a way to make artificial fuels which will replace the diminishing supplies of coal and oil. The process they seek to perform in their laboratories, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine, is the marvelous one that nature uses every day in storing up energy in leaves and plants by converting waste material into wood, etc., under the action of sunlight. Solution of the riddle is being sought in California by Dr. Herman A. Spehr and a staff of research workers. A year's consumption of coal at the present time represents the accumulation of 100 years, he says.

Vienna Exports Coins

The output of the Vienna mint in 1924 was the greatest since its foundation, according to a report of the budget committee of the national assembly. Only a comparatively few of the coins struck, however, were for Austrian account, the bulk going to Poland, Bulgaria, North and East Africa and even Afghanistan, in the shape of the old Maria Theresa dollar. Altogether, the Vienna mint turned out 241,000,000 coins, calling for 7,000 pounds of silver every day of the year.

Advancement in Tibet

The butter-burning lamps of Lhasa, forbidden city of Tibet, soon will be no more. Their place will be taken, even in the most sacred shrines, by electric lamps, and electricity to light these lamps will be generated by a hydro-electric plant that is now making its way on the banks of the Indus along trails reaching from the Indian border.

THE BANKER-EDUCATOR PLAN TO PROMOTE BETTER AGRICULTURE

By D. H. OTIS.

Agricultural Director, American Bankers Association

WHENEVER bankers desire to promote actively agricultural improvement in their communities the state agricultural colleges stand ready to show them the way and to give expert assistance. The purpose of this article is to illustrate the way in which the colleges are getting in contact with the banks and the kind of assistance they render.

As soon as the college has a list of the banks in the state desiring to adopt plans to aid agriculture as indicated by project blanks sent out to all the banks in the state, by the State Bankers Association, Agricultural Committee, it gives practical suggestions to each banker on the list as to what he can do to stimulate, organize and conduct the work in the particular project he has selected. Then either a department specialist from the college or the county agent gets in personal touch with the banker to assist him in an advisory capacity.

Samples of the project outlines are given below to illustrate the details of the procedure the college takes in accomplishing its plan.

College Provides Expert Advisers

In counties with no county agent a list of the banks desiring to carry on a project is sent to a specialist at the state college, according to the project listed. For instance, the banks desiring to carry on the farm accounts project are assigned to the farm management specialist, those desiring to carry on the legume project to the agronomy specialist, those interested in boys' and girls' club work to the junior extension specialist, and so forth.

In counties that do have a county agent a list of the banks and the projects in which each is interested is sent to him with a request that he get in touch with the bankers and help them in regard to the various projects.

The next step by the college is to write to each banker on the list sending him project outlines and informing him that the county agent or a specialist from the college will get in touch with him. If there is no agent in the county this letter reads as follows:

Gentlemen—You will find enclosed a brief outline of the farm accounts project in which you have indicated your interest to your State Agricultural Committee and to the Agricultural Committee of the American Bankers Association. I am sure that the specialist from the agricultural college will be pleased to assist you in carrying out the suggestions indicated. We have asked him to get in touch with you.

Director, Agricultural Extension.

The letter to bankers in counties that do have a county agent informs them that he will get in touch with them.

Suggests Things the Banker Can Do

The project outlines sent to each banker give specific suggestions as to the things he can do to organize the work in his project, and the part he can take in carrying out the work. The more simple and concrete these suggestions are the more valuable bankers in banker-farmer projects.

WALDEN KNIVES CANT

COMPETE WITH GERMANY.

George McVey, superintendent of the Walden Knife Works, has resigned his position, to take effect in October. James Wynkoop, a brother-in-law of Mr. McVey, who has been assistant superintendent, will now be in charge and a representative of the Winchester-Simmon Company, which controls the plant, will be there part of the time.

The plant at one time employed 200 workers, but the force has been cut to 52 employees. The falling off in the manufacture of pocket knives is laid to the tariff. At Walden, it is said that as long as the tariff controls the situation and as long as the tariff is based on foreign valuation, the pocket knife business in this country is going to have a hard struggle to compete with Germany.

Knives of certain patterns, for instance, would be sold from the local plant for $5 to $8 a dozen. This same pattern, made in Germany, can be bought, duty paid, for $3 a dozen. The Walden made knives would sell for $1 to $1.50 each in stores about the United States. The same German pattern, which can be bought for $1 a dozen, can be so far undersold that the American knife stays on the shelf in the store. Hence, there is a lack of sales of local knives.

These figures are not exact, but are approximately what is received for the American made knife.

STORE CLOSED MONDAY ON ACCOUNT OF HOLIDAY.

PIEDMONT COLLEGE QUARTET IN FINE CONCERT THURSDAY

Thursday evening the male quartet from Piedmont College at Demorest, Georgia, gave an exceptionally fine concert in the Congregational Church on Abrya street. The members of the quartet were Leslie Brown, Clay Olson, Martin and Jesse Stinecoper with Milton Kulling at the piano. The concert consisted of quartet numbers, solos, and duets. At the close of the concert the Rev. A. T. Osborn, extension secretary of the college, gave an interesting talk on the college and its work and asked for contributions to the college, which has no endowment. He said that the college was located in a section which, although made up of the purest type of Anglo-Saxons in the country, has a large percentage of illiteracy. This year the college is sending its made quartet throughout the country to bring the work of the college and its needs to the attention of the public. Wednesday night the quartet sang in the First Congregational Church in Poughkeepsie.

61 NEWBURGHERS ARE AFTER SHIPBUILDERS' WAR BONDS.

Led by Edwin C. Bennett, sixty-one employees of the Newburgh Shipyard, Inc., on Thursday in Washington were in the thick of their fight to force the United States Shipbuilding Board Emergency Fleet Corporation to divide among them a bonus of $224,000, said to represent one-third of the savings they effected on building ships at a cost of $1,404,000 each at the Newburgh shipyard. Several hearings have already been held in Washington before Herbert R. Davis, auditor of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and another is scheduled for next Monday.

Little Red Riding Hood Dies

GIRL VICTIM OF BEAR, N.Y.

A cunning brown baby bear, in the family home at Otisville, N. Y., suddenly turned on his mistress, Dorothy Craig, shown in the center, and, sinking his teeth in her neck when she thought he was about to play, killed her as her father looked on. The bear was killed later.

Pirate Pitchers Seem to Have Slight Edge

Walsh Shows Mows Pittsburgh is Death on Lefties; Burden on Johnson and Coveleski—Man for Man There is Little Difference.

By Davis J. Walsh.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 25.—It being a fairly well established fact that the world's series are won and lost on pitching, the form sheets would seem to stake the Pittsburgh Pirates to something of a running start over the Washington Senators in the impending inter-league championship. Man for man, there is slight choice, if at all, between the two staffs. It simply narrows down to a matter of circumstance, form, prevailing conditions or what you will.

Form, of course, has an irritating habit of developing housemaid's knee, or something, when the final returns come in.

Up to Right Handers.
The Pirates, for example, have been swarming all over left handers during the current season and Ruth and Zachary, two of the Senators' first flight pitchers, are very left handed. That would appear to leave Walter Johnson and Stanley Coveleski holding the bag for the series against the entire Pittsburgh staff. Will it?

For all anyone knows, Ruth and Zachary may prove to be the stars of the event. That is baseball. On paper the Pirate staff seems to enjoy a slight superiority, yet this doesn't take into account the fact that Pittsburgh pitching looked none too good in the closing stages of the race. It is possible that the same sort of thing might be carried right into the big series, although this is highly unlikely. The poorly pitched world's series game is a rarity.

The Senators are, just as partial as the Pirates to left handed pitching, but their circumstances differ in this important particular. The Senators must use Ruth and Zachary, while the Pirates need start Yde in only one game, if at all.

Offhand it may be assumed that the Senator staff doesn't figure to show its best because of the Pirates' fondness for left handers. Ruth and Zachary, of course, will get into the series, regardless of conditions. Johnson, if right, is almost certain to pitch the opening game and Coveleski the second. Further then will be called on for the third game but whether Zachary gets immediate action at this juncture will depend on how well or badly Johnson and the rest of the Washington staff is composed, of Marberry, Ferguson, Win Dillio, Chattanooga recruit, and Russell. The first two are relief pitchers.

Depends on Veterans.
If both Johnson and Coveleski go well, Harris' pitching problem will be simplified. If either or both flop.

Washington Wins American Race

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The second piece of pie never tastes as good as the first.

With a calmness amounting almost to apathy, the National Capital accepted its second American League pennant today as a matter of course—in marked contrast to the unforgettable scenes of last year when the whole town went on a rampage with cow bells, shouts, yells, and a collegiate parade up historic Pennsylvania avenue.

It has been accepted that Washington would win for such a long time that the actual moment of victory lost its flavor. Only in the scramble for world series tickets is there indication of something out of the ordinary in the capital.

The Washington club has approximately 75,000 applications for tickets more than half that number. Already set, in anticipation of the victory, the lucky ones will begin to get their credentials during the next week. The orders are to be filled in the order of their receipt, first come, first served.

Despite the fact that Washington now cannot lose, Manager Bucky Harris said today he would keep his team going full tilt for the balance of the season, with most of his regulars working.

Saugerties-Cementon Road.

The concrete work on the Saugerties-Cementon road has been completed on one side to the Eversport Hotel. It is expected to carry the work forward to Cedar Grove Hotel at Malden on the one side and then return to Cementon and commence concreting the other side to Malden.

At Temple Emanuel Sunday.

Sunday evening services will be held at the Temple Emanuel at seven o'clock.

he will be in a bad way with only the uncertain left handers and relief pitchers at hand.

Pittsburgh has the tighter, more compact staff for a seven-game test. Yde, Aldridge, Kremer and Meadows are first-class pitchers, with Morrisou just a step behind. Babe Adams, 1909 hero, might prove of use if there is a wind for him to work with, but the writer does not hold with the idea that he and Johnson will hook up at the start of one of the games. Adams is just about at the end of his competitive rope.

The Pirates can look for good pitching day after day therefore, but if they don't get it the situation will turn very sour.

All in all, it looks like two great pitchers against five good ones, with the odds slightly in favor of the latter.

Tagging Major League Bases

While the Athletics were lending a helping hand by losing to the Browns, the Senators applied the crusher to what was left of the so-called pennant race by taking two from the Indians, 4 to 3 and 6 to 2, and incidentally the 1925 American League flag. Goslin's hitting in the first game and the pitching of Ruether and Ferguson in both were abiding factors.

Ruether proved as good as his name by taking the Tigers on a very rough journey. He allowed four hits and the Red Sox won, 5 to 0.

With the horse gone, the Giants carefully locked the stable door by beating the Pirates 4 to 0, Scott being very good.

It took 11 innings but class always tells. The Dodgers lost their 17th straight when Rixey's third single won his own game, the Reds falling heir to the victory, 3 to 2.

Memories of a faded past were revived at the Yankee Stadium when George H. Ruth stepped to the plate in the tenth inning and smote Connelly for a homer with the bases filled, the Yanks beating the White Sox, 6 to 5. It was the sixth time in Ruth's career that he has obliged in such a situation.

The Athletics played coroner to their own remains by losing to the Browns, 6 to 4, Groves cracking in the late innings and Harris being a flop as a relief pitcher.

SEMI-FINALS TODAY IN PROFESSIONAL GOLF MATCH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Walter Hagen of Pasadena, Fla., still the champion by virtue of the proverbial "Hagen luck" today was called upon to withstand an attack upon his crown by Harry Cooper of Dallas, Texas, in the semi-final round of the Professional Golfers' Association tourney at Olney.

The other final matches was between Bill Melhorn of Chicago and young Mortie Dedra of Aberdeen. Hagen said today that never before had he come so close to defeat in a championship match as yesterday when Leo Diegel, Washington, D. C., holder of the Canadian open title, led him all the way to the 54th hole. There Hagen squared the match, then forced him to go to the fortieth to win.

There the lightning struck. Diegel dubbed his tee shot into the rough only a hundred yards away and after getting on the green in two, missed a ten foot putt that would have halved the hole.

Cooper gets his chance at the champion by virtue of a 2 to 1 defeat of Johnny Farrell of New York. Melhorn survived by outwitting Tommy Kerrigan of New York 5 and 6.

Barnyard Golf At State Fair

First Prize in Horseshoe Pitching Tournament Went to Jefferson County Man—Calvin Staples of Marlborough Won Sixth Prize—Twenty Counties Competed.

A Jefferson county man has the honor of winning the gold medal and a $50 cash prize for defeating contestants from nineteen other counties of New York in the horseshoe pitching contest at the New York State Fair at Syracuse under the auspices of the Farm Bureaus of the state, co-operating with the American Agriculturist. The contest was one of the leading events of the fair and from start to finish held the attention of a large crowd.

J. B. Van Auken of Adams, Jefferson county, was the successful champion. George Philpot of Munnsville, Madison county, won second prize of $40 in cash. Delaware county came third with a cash prize of $30 awarded to George Tweedie of Mundele. Chemung county won fourth place and a cash prize of $20 was awarded to Dell Hughes of Elmira. Albert Carlson of Central Valley, Orange county, won fifth prize of $10. Calvin Staples of Marlborough, Ulster county, came sixth and received a cash prize of $5, and Harvey Colegrove of Livonia, Livingston county was seventh and also received a $5 cash prize.

In addition to these cash prizes, merchandise prizes were awarded to Bob Moore of Westfield, Chautauque county; Elmer McMillan, Oakfield, Genesee county; Joseph Kingston, Skaneateles, Onondaga county; L. W. Kenyon, Venice Center, Cayuga county; T. H. McCluen, Trumansburg, Tompkins county; Herbert Coye, Smyrna, Chenango county; Fred A. Beardsley, Trumansburg, Tompkins county; Wade Matilee, North Blenheim, Schoharie county; P. M. Reeves, Newark, Wayne county.

The twenty counties who sent men to Syracuse to compete for the state prizes in the State Fair tournament selected these men by holding local contests in their home counties and interest has run high in almost all of the farm counties of the state all summer in this wholesome, old-fashioned sport. As a result of the careful selection in the counties, those who went to the State Fair were highly skilled pitchers. One of the remarkable things about the tournament was the large number of ties. Right up to the last moment it was nobody's game and the first place finally had to be decided between Mr. Van Auken and Mr. Philpot by their throwing an extra game in order to pitch off the tie. In addition to this, ties had to be decided in 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th places.

D. D. Cottrell, who is vice-president of the National Horseshoe Pitching Association and had charge of keeping the records at the State Fair tournament, stated that never in his experience had he seen such a close and exciting contest. Another outstanding thing about the tournament was the good sportsmanship displayed by all of the players.

This is the second year that the Farm Bureaus and the American Agriculturist have conducted the State Fair tournament. To show how the skill in pitching has increased in one year, it is only necessary to state that last year at the State tournament, the percentage of winners for all the players was .977 and this year the percentage had more than doubled to .175. During the tournament Mr. Van Auken, the champion, won 14 games and lost five. He won 373 pitches, made 123 rivers, 14 double rivers and pitched 579 shots. Mr. Philpot, who second place, won 14 games and lost five, made 154 pitches, threw 193 rivers, eight double rivers and threw 543 shots. If you don't think that it takes some skill to do this, keep track of your own record and compare it!

Football Season Opens Saturday

Big Three or Big Ten of Western Conference Will Not Start Tomorrow but There Are a Number of Very Interesting Games Scheduled.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 25.—Now seems to be the time for all good garroters to come to the aid of the jolly old Alma Mater. The business of legalizing skull cracking will begin tomorrow with the official opening of the 1925 football season and a pleasant time will be had by some.

The movement will be nation wide as they say in political orations, notable exceptions being few but important. The Big Three will not indulge in the pastime at this premature moment. Neither will the Big Ten of the Western Conference. But have decided to gratify the inhabitants on the following Saturday.

However, the rest of the country is not so reticent. Notre Dame, California, Stanford, Georgia Tech, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Cornell, Columbia, Tuane and Vanderbilt, Texas, Lafayette, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Marquette, Brown, Georgia and others are down in the books for a brawl from the barrier.

Notre Dame's effort against Baylor will be of particular interest because Rockne's team promises to be just a ordinary outfit for the first time in years. The all star backfield of Crowley, Miller, Leyden and Stuhldreher has passed on with 19 other letters men and it is no longer illac time in Indiana.

California's inaugural with Santa Clara also has the boys peering fixedly toward the west coast owing to the report that the supposed victim may turn out to be an oily scoundrel who uses a gold brick behind the ear. The Bears haven't lost a game since Taff made the featherweight limit and probably have the finest material in the country. However, Santa Clara is said to be literally loaded for bear and anything can happen in the early season.

Ten years ago, when Johnny Barrett ran wild, Pittsburgh's game with Washington and Lee might have proved too ambitious at this stage of the proceedings. But Pitt is believed to have bobbed up with a typical Panther team and little is known of W. and L. therefore, it may be assumed that this one is in the bag.

So, also, is Stanford's contest with the Olympic Club. Pennsylvania's opening game with Urbane and the annual business of the Syracuse wars against Hobart, Cornell and Dartmouth, both short on experienced material also are believed to have picked up a couple of dead ones in Susquehanna and Norwich respectively while Columbia looks for little opposition from Haverford.

Pennsylvania, taking on the most rigorous schedule in the history of Eastern football, is much further advanced than any other team in this section and probably will run right over Urbane. The team is being pointed toward the Yale game next month and is almost ready now.

Brown's schedule is no relief cushion, either. The Providence effort, however, seems to have found itself a "breather" tomorrow in the Rhode Island state game. So how Lafayette and Penn State with Lebanon Valley and Lehigh Valley respectively.

Probably the best southern contest will involve Georgia and Mercer, although little is known about the latter in this section. Georgia Tech with Wycliff still rampaging, probably will just about discount the Oglethorpe and what Vanderbilt should do to Marquette depends upon the imagination. The rest of the southern field also seems to be away in very smooth going.
